Report Rhee to Cooperate In Armistice

Demand Zaisser Jailing

Workers Want Reds To Purge Beria's Protege, Gestapo Chief In East Zone

BERLIN, July 11 (P)—Embodied by the downfall of Soviet Police Chief L. P. Beria in the Kremlin hierarchy, anti-Communist workers tonight demanded the jailing of William Zaisser, his protee in East Germany.

This first repercussion from the Kremlin purge was voiced by workers at the Hennigsdorf Steel Works who have been reported on an anti-Red slowdown strike for three days.

Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, tough Soviet commandant who in 25 days or ruthless martial law publicly confirmed the execution of at least one jobless truck driver and the arrest of 4,000 rioters in the suppression of the June 17 revolt, had announced only a few hours before that martial law in East Berlin would be lifted at midnight.

Already frightened and confused by the revolt, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl's regime wavered nervously for what the palace revolution in Moscow would bring.

Zaisser has headed the Red Gestapo in the Soviet zone since 1949. He got his police training under Beria and served under Moscow's orders as "Gen. Gomez" in the Spanish Civil War.

The East German news agency, ADN, commented guardedly tonight that Beria's removal would have "new, decisive consequences."

Another East German reported in danger from the purge was the Soviet high commissioner, Vladimir Semenov. He and other high officials and civilian officials still were absent from the public eye in East Berlin tonight. They were recalled to Moscow more than a week ago, around the time Beria's removal must have taken place.

Grotewohl tonight haughtily denounced and rejected President Eisenhower's offer of 15 million dollars worth of food to "alleviate sufferings" in the Soviet zone. Grotewohl said the offer was an "insult" and a "provocation."

The offer was embarrassing to Grotewohl because East Germany, before Soviet occupation, was Germany's bread basket. Now it is short of food.

Even as Grotewohl was replying to Eisenhower, the Communist national front was warning that East Germany's harvest was being crippled by lack of farm labor and "sabotage."

The commission said the Grotewohl government was engaged in a "head-over-heels" effort to appease rebellious workers with economic reforms, but was ignoring the basic Communist injustices whose reform along would satisfy the people.

Despite the lifting of martial law, East Berlin was still restless. Hundreds of German soldiers and police, armed with machine guns and rifles, continued to guard Grotewohl's Wilhelmstrasse headquarters.

Allied sources said at least three important East German industrial centers—Magneburg, Halle and Erfurt—remained under Soviet martial law despite its relaxation in East Berlin.

Head-On Crash Kills Four, Injures One

BELLELEVILLE, Ill., July 11 (P)—Four persons were killed and another injured critically tonight in a head-on, two-car crash five miles east of here on Illinois Highway 161.

Two of the dead were identified as John Pousseau, 77, New Baden, Ill., driver of the westbound car, and William O. Maxey, Mt. Vernon, Ill., who was in the second car.

Two women killed were not immediately identified.

State police said packages in the Maxey auto indicated the occupants were returning from a shopping trip to St. Louis.

Soviet Rejects US Food

White House Says Offer Still Stands; Would Send Help Worth $15 Million

WASHINGTON, July 11 (P)—The East German Communists and the Soviet Union angrily rejected President Eisenhower's offer of food for hungry East Germany today. But the White House said the offer still stands.

The 15 million dollars worth of food would have gone to East Germany through the Soviet occupation authorities.

Developments came quickly to night about 24 hours after Eisenhower made the offer.

The turnaround came first in a bitter statement from Red German Premier Otto Grotewohl, who said it was "a provocation which serves only the aims of agitation."

Then the Moscow radio confirmed that Grotewohl was acting on Kremlin orders. The Russian radio heard in London said the offer was "not in the true interests of the German people" and blamed the West for the June 17 uprisings that bared the needs of East Germany.

Finally from behind the Iron Curtain came a Moscow dispatch reporting the Soviet rejection was delivered to the U. S. Embassy.

In Washington, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said in a statement: "The President's offer of food for the people of East Germany still stands regardless of any Soviet rejection of that offer or any Soviet allegation that the people do not need food."

The White House reply came less than an hour after the Moscow note delivery was reported.

Want Pettis In Emergency Drought Area

Farm And Civic Leaders Seek To Get County Included

Efforts are being made by farm and civic leaders to get Pettis County included in the emergency drought in order that local farmers might be eligible for any benefits which may be granted to farmers whose crops and livestock become "victims" of the drought.

Earlier this week a number of counties of Missouri were listed as in an emergency drought area, but Pettis County was included only as a "fringe area" and would not, thereby, be included for any benefits or assistance.

Saturday Pettis County farm leaders and the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce sent telegrams seeking to get Pettis made a full participating county in the drought area.

Everett Stevenson, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, sent an identical message to Governor Phil M. Donnelly, Congressman Morgan Moulder and Senators Thomas C. Hennings Jr. and Stuart Symington, in which he said:

"Drought conditions have created disaster in Pettis County. Please include Pettis in drought area program."

County Agent Merle Vaughan sent the following telegram to J. W. Burch, director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the Missouri University College of Agriculture:

"Because of drought conditions over most of Pettis County, it appears imperative that this county be included in the emergency drought area. This is consistent with our reports of two weeks and one week ago that if we did not have adequate rainfall by July 11th, such action would be necessary."

John Sneed Jr., chairman of the livestock committee of the Pettis County Farm Bureau, wired H. E. Slusher, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, Jefferson City:

"The drought has caused serious feed and pasture shortages and made necessary the liquidation of several livestock herds. We urge the inclusion of Pettis County in the emergency drought area."

Bohlen Back in US To Report on Beria

NEW YORK (P)—Charles E. Bohlen, U. S. ambassador to Russia, arrived today by plane en route to Washington to report on the latest developments within the Soviet Union.

Bohlen, who was in Paris on a vacation, was summoned home by the State Department after the announcement of the ouster of Lavrenti P. Beria as Deputy Premier of Soviet Russia. The State Department said Bohlen predicted Beria's removal in one of his reports.

Everything but the price and moisture test on wheat is higher this year in Pettis County, according to word received by Virgil Griffin, manager of the local MFA exchange.

Last year the wheat sales in this vicinity were unusually profitable considering the large yields due to a program which called for the immediate shipment of wheat to the Far East.

Because of the ready foreign market which existed then, the PETTIS FARMERS FIGHT GRASSHOPPERS—In the past few weeks one of the major endeavors of many Pettis County farmers has been to fight grasshoppers which have been trying to strip fields of grain before the farmers get a chance at harvesting.

Walter Dowd is shown spraying a fence row and corn next to it to control grasshoppers for Frank Sellers, Route 5, Sedalia. Frank's fence is a year old planting of multiflora rose which he also wanted to protect. Just back of the corn was a clover field that they also intended to spray.

The recommended materials to use are four ounces of aldrin, one pound of chlordane, or two pounds of toxaphene per acre, according to directions on the can. He was told the hoppers are harder to kill now than in the spring and the dosage needs to be stronger. Even then he said his kill was better with the toxaphene than with chlordane, but he had used powdered chlordane rather than the emulsifiable concentrate, which is easier to use.

Dowd returned to finish spraying at Sellers about nine days after the first work was done. He reported as many as 10 large grasshoppers dead per square foot and a great reduction in the number of live ones in evidence.

They failed to get the clover field sprayed on the first trip, but when they returned it was full of very small hoppers so they went ahead and sprayed it, too.

Reds Confiscate Films—Adlai Stevenson Looks Down Muzzle Of Russian Tommygun

BERLIN, July 11 (P)—Adlai E. Stevenson looked down the muzzle of a Russian tommygun in the hands of a trigger-happy East Berlin people's soldier tonight. The soldier meant business. "You move and I shoot" he said in English.

The incident occurred as Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, and his party were touring East Berlin, restless and tense since last month's riots. He and his party were held up for 20 minutes and the films they had taken behind the Iron Curtain were confiscated.

Telling about the gun episode afterward, Stevenson said with a smile: "You know, curiously, I didn't move."

He and his party of seven persons were clambering around the ruins of the bunker on Wilhelmstrasse where Hitler is believed to have committed suicide. Several of the group started snapping pictures of Stevenson. Suddenly about 10 police and soldiers appeared. One car pulled in behind Stevenson's car, another in front of it, blocking escape. They ordered the Americans to stop taking pictures.

The group included Cecil B. Lyon, Berlin director for the U. S. High Commission, U. S. Maj. Edwin Lumpkin of Athens, Ga., Ernest Ives of Chicago, Stevenson's brother-in-law, and Stevenson's assistants William Blair and William Attwood and Mrs. Attwood.

The Russians started to get back into their cars an East German soldier wearing a knaki uniform of Russian style and carrying a Russian tommy gun, stepped forward menacingly. "You move and I shoot," he said gruffly.

When the police refused to let them leave, Lyon demanded to see the Russian ambassador. After about 20 minutes some officials—not the ambassador—showed up. The officials confiscated the party's films and ordered them to proceed on their way.

The Russians only opened up East Berlin to Westerners two days ago for the first time since the June 17 workers revolt. Martial law is to be lifted at midnight but was still in effect at the time of Stevenson's visit. Under the rules of martial law, "agents and provocateurs" could be court-martialed by the Soviet Army and shot by a Russian firing squad.

The Communists who forbade Stevenson's companions to take pictures seemed honestly surprised at the Westerner's reaction. "Why, you know foreigners can't take pictures in America," one said. "Why should you expect to take pictures here?"

Stevenson motored through the Soviet sector after a ceremony in West Berlin City Hall where he signed the golden visitors' book and was greeted by West Berlin Mayor Ernst Reuter. With reference to the East Berlin riots he declared:

"The flame of resistance to tyranny burns ever bright. I pray for the day when Germany will arise again in freedom and unity."

Fried Chicken Suggested As Menu For Big Picnic

The suggested menu for 4-H club members to bring to the picnic, which they are sponsoring for the business men and women in Sedalia July 14, is as follows:

Preferably fried chicken, bread and butter sandwiches, a vegetable or salad and dessert.

Other dishes may be brought, but are optional. A story on the picnic and the program planned appears on page 2 of today's Democrat.

Hot 96 In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, July 11 (P)—The mercury hit 96 degrees today—hottest day of the year in Los Angeles and the warmest July 11 in the local Weather Bureau's 76-year history.

The moisture tests on wheat for this year and last have been relatively equal. The average for both years has been 11-12 and 13, due to similarly dry weather. The average weight per bushel has also been close and runs about 60 pounds per bushel.

Chinese Overrun ROK Post

Sweep South Korean Troops From Hold On Finger Ridge By Mass Assault

SEOUL, Sunday, July 11 (P)—More than 2,000 Chinese assaulted a single South Korean outpost on the East-Central Front today.

The new Red attack swept back South Korean Division troops from their outpost positions on the Western spur of Finger Ridge, southeast of Kumsong.

Shortly after daylight the South Koreans still were fighting on the ridge-top to regain their positions, the 8th Army said.

Two smaller assaults were repulsed in the same sector, northwest of Finger Ridge.

The rest of the front was relatively quiet Saturday night.

Sixteen U. S. B29 Superforts Saturday night bombed three bridges spanning the Chongchon River in Northwest Korea. Anti-aircraft fire was intense. One Red jet fighter made a firing pass at a Superfort.

On the Western Front, Allied artillery rained an intense bombardment on the shell-blasted crest of Porkchop Hill which U. S. 7th Division troops gave up Saturday after a savage five-day battle.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said it was not known immediately if the Communists had moved forward to occupy the hill, 40 miles north of Seoul.

The spokesman said the position was given up on orders, meaning the withdrawal was a command decision and that the U. S. infantrymen were not forced off by enemy action.

The loss of Porkchop was the only major action reported across the front since fighting died down on Arrowhead Ridge, six miles north-east of Porkchop. There, South Korean 2nd Division defenders successfully beat off another bloody five-day Chinese attack.

The South Koreans mopped up the last Chinese survivors Saturday morning and at last reports the Reds had made no new attempts to seize the hill.

In the air, South pilots shot down two MIGs in their first encounter with the Red jets since June 30 when the Sabres blasted 15 out of the skies for their greatest victory over the Red Air Force.

Maj. John F. Bolt of Sanford, Fla., was credited by the Fifth Air Force with both kills—his fifth and sixth—to become the 37th jet ace of the war.

The command decision to withdraw from Porkchop came after almost five non-stop days and nights of bloody battle.

At some moments the rate of fire rose to 300 shells a minute. At other times in the desperate struggle, U. S. infantrymen rose up and beat the Chinese with their fists and steel helmets in the shock of body to body contact.

U. S. artillery and mortars pounded the Reds with barrages, equal to if not surpassing the Red pounding. As the troops withdrew the bombardment rose to a deafening crescendo, front reports said.

The artillery duel dominated all action as night fell. The heavy Allied gunfire covered the withdrawal of the 7th and then poured shell after shell on the hill in case the Reds tried to exploit their success.

Elsewhere, South Koreans early Saturday beat off 4,000 Chinese hitting along a four-mile front on the East-Central Front. A two-pronged Red attack rammed into Allied lines southeast of Kumsong after seven hours was hammered back by South Korean 6th Division troops.

The Sabres hit the MIGs near Antung on the Yalu River, border of Manchuria when Bolt spotted the Red jets taking off from their base. His flight pounded on the Red fighters the instant they crossed the Yalu from their Manchurian sanctuary.

The Air Force announced its losses during the week ended Saturday were three planes including an F-84 Thunderjet to ground fire, a Marine night fighter and a T-6 reconnaissance plane to other causes.

More Wheat, Higher Yield, But Less Price

least, there has been an average 30 bushel yield per acre as compared with a 20 to 22 bushel yield last year. Another factor is the heavy carry over of wheat from last year.

The moisture tests on wheat for this year and last have been relatively equal. The average for both years has been 11-12 and 13, due to similarly dry weather. The average weight per bushel has also been close and runs about 60 pounds per bushel.

US And Korea Reach Mutual Understanding Over Truce

Rhee Promises Not To Release 8000 Remaining Red POWs, Will Abide By Truce; US Signing Defense Pact

SEOUL, Sunday, July 12 (P)—The United States and South Korea today issued a joint statement saying the two countries had reached an agreement that has "gone far toward achieving mutual understanding on the troubled questions which have arisen in connection with arrangements for an armistice."

U. S. Envoy Walter S. Robertson went beyond the formal paper, telling newsmen "we could not make the statement if we had not had assurance that President Syngman Rhee would collaborate in the armistice."

However, there was nothing in the 300-word statement that specifically said the South Korean President would join or even cooperate in a truce.

In Washington, an Eisenhower administration leader said the two nations had reached complete agreement and only acceptance by the Communists was needed for a cease fire.

Previously Rhee had balked at any truce that left the country divided with one million Chinese Red troops on Korean soil.

One hour after the statement was released at 10 a. m. (7 p. m. Saturday, CST) Allied and Communist truce negotiators were due to meet again at the Panmunjom conference table.

Just what reaction the Red delegation would make to the U. S.-South Korean accord remained to be seen.

The Communists have demanded solid assurances from the U. N.

that Rhee would honor the terms of the truce.

The text of the joint Rhee-Robertson announcement was couched in general terms but it indicated:

1. Rhee promised not to turn loose the remaining 8,000 anti-Communist North Korean prisoners until they had been interviewed by representatives of neutral nations as the armistice terms specified.

2. Rhee promised to abide by the terms of the armistice at least until a "post-armistice" period had been reached. It didn't say specifically how long that might be.

3. The United States agreed to a mutual defense pact. The drafts have already been exchanged for such a treaty.

4. The United States discussed collaboration along political, economic and defense lines.

It said "a wide area of agreement" had been reached in these matters and that the U. S. and the Republic of Korea wanted to emphasize their determination to work together for the realization of a "free, independent and unified Korea."

The announcement was handed to newsmen Saturday night. Robertson said the talks with Rhee had been finished and that he was returning to Washington by way of Tokyo. There he will confer for two days with Gen. Mark Clark, Far East U. N. commander.

Robertson spent 16 days negotiating with Rhee, trying to get the stubborn old President to promise he would respect—if not sign—an armistice.

BUT---Reporter Says Rhee Hasn't Agreed, After All

SEOUL, Sunday, July 12 (P)—Shortly before the joint statement was released, U. S. presidential envoy Walter S. Robertson's earlier expressed optimism changed to concern because of an American correspondent's report that South Korean President Syngman Rhee had said he still would not accept an armistice.

Later he was to fly to Tokyo, en route to the United States.

Just before he left Seoul to fly to Tokyo, and then the United States, newsmen told Robertson that an interview with Rhee by Correspondent Jim Lucas of the Scripps Howard newspapers quoted the South Korean President as saying:

"We will not accept the armistice, but we have agreed not to obstruct it for a period of three months. President Eisenhower wanted us to accept an armistice in toto, but this is as far as we can go. They (the Americans) seem absolutely certain that they can unify Korea and get all the Chinese out of this country in three months.

"We don't believe it but we have agreed to wait three months."

Robertson appeared disturbed. He declined to comment on the interview but newsmen overheard him say to a South Korean aide:

"This puts us in an impossible position—we had an agreement."

Robertson's press aide, Assistant Secretary of State Carl McCordle, said he himself was "shocked" at the Rhee interview.

Rhee was not available for comment this morning. His office said he had left the presidential mansion as a cover for a farewell talk with Robertson and drove out of the city to look over possible sites for a monument or monuments to Korean war dead. His office said it did not know when Rhee would return.

Yanks Yield To Rhee On Two Points To Get His Truce Okay

WASHINGTON, July 11 (P)—Syngman Rhee's reported promise to collaborate in a Korean armistice apparently was obtained by the United States at the cost of at least two concessions.

The joint statement released at Seoul tonight by President Rhee and Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson provided little solid information on the nature of their agreement. However, officials here said the statement made clear that Rhee had promised to co-operate in an armistice.

For information available in official quarters it was understood that the United States had yielded on two points of considerable interest to Rhee:

1. If after 90 days of negotiations with the Communists in a proposed political conference, it appears that the Reds are deliberately stalling on decisions for the unification of Korea, are using the conference for propaganda purposes or as a cover for subversive action against South Korea, the United States will be prepared to withdraw from the conference and re-examine its position.

This falls short of Rhee's demand for a flat United States commitment to break with the conference after 90 days unless it is clearly achieving Korean unification and then to resume the war.

Rhee apparently had to make a concession on this point, since, according to the best information available, the United States refused to promise to start the fighting again at any time.

2. The United States is already negotiating a defense pact with Rhee assuring him of some kind of American action if his country should again be attacked or threatened with attack. President Eisenhower offered a defense treaty in a letter to the South Korean President last month out at that time it was contemplated that the pact would not be negotiated until after the armistice.

Other points of appeal to Rhee held out by the United States were promises of continued substantial military and economic aid. These were important to Rhee in the negotiation of the pact.

That Rhee was in his declared intentions to fight he would split up the alliance which has saved his country from Red conquest and lose American sympathy and support.

Lollypop And A Pain After Polio Vaccination

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 11 (P)—Thousands of youngsters, many of them with tears of pain and surprise in their eyes, walked out of emergency anti-polio clinics today clutching a lollypop in one hand and the place where they sit down with the other.

They were the first of an estimated 35,000 children who are receiving gamma globulin mass inoculation in medical history.

United Civic Center Becomes Popular Spot for GI's

Good Attendance Reported on Nights When It Is Open

By Peter Potter

The United Civic Center has become a popular spot, and if you step inside and take a look at it, you can understand why. It was fashioned for servicemen by people donating their time because they realize that a uniform frequently covers up a young man who wishes he were home.

That's why Sedalia's civic center in the old post office building, second and Lamine, has a living room. Any of the servicemen who refer to it by any other terms are fined, but Mrs. Jerome Wolf, director of the center, says it's a slow way to make any money. The boys like having their own place contain a luxury like a living room.

The center is well attended, in case you've been wondering whether it's being used at all. The doors are open three nights a week—Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday—and an average of 15 boys are on hand every night. Sedalia girls serve as hostesses, so that often the place contains a large crowd. In fact, the need has become apparent for the center to be open more than three nights a week.

That is gratifying to the people who went to so much trouble to procure, repair and refurbish the center. They donated more than $3,000 in labor and materials. The furnishings probably cost about $1,500 to $2,000 more.

The place reflects the work put into it. The living room has two big couches, several comfortable chairs, two writing desks, card tables, a television set and colorful drapes. The recreation room has a ping-pong table, a juke box, a radio and record player, a game adapted from pool, and several chairs. The ping-pong table is often shoved aside and the room used for dancing.

The girls have a powder room attractively decorated in red and blue along the lower half of the walls and with a party motif in the paper above. There are mirrors and make-up tables and chairs. The boys' shower room is downstairs.

There are dispensers of cigarettes, soft drinks and candy, and a public telephone booth is in the hallway. In Mrs. Wolf's office, there is a large bookcase full of books donated by the Sedalia Public Library. Playing cards, checkers and chess sets are on hand.

The floors are of brightly colored squares of asphalt tile laid over a masonite base. They are kept scrubbed and polished. The Recreation at the center is provided by a pool table, ping-pong table and juke box, shown here in the game room.

A lounge room at the servicemen's center, with couches, lamps and a TV set, give a "homey" atmosphere to the place where airmen gather.

Air Force Base this fall will give the attendance another boost.

It presents a tough problem for the board of directors. Bob Wall, president, said Friday that there would be no such problem if the center could stand as it is, because it needs no more furnishings. The catch is, more money is needed to meet operation costs. If the center is to go on providing its services to the men, it will have to obtain, from somewhere, about $1,000 to carry it through to the first of next year. The board of directors met Friday at its regular session and had a long talk about raising the money.

There are a number of Sedalia merchants now sending monthly checks for $5 and $10 to the civic center for its upkeep, and the board of directors hopes other concerns in the city will follow suit. The amount of the checks is made a part of the merchants' regular budget.

Meanwhile, the servicemen are happy that Sedalia's thought enough of them to work up the civic center for them. They had a big picnic and swimming party the other week that drew a big crowd. That went over so big that every month, from now on, they're going to have a collective birthday party.

What kind of boys are they? Well, they range in age from 18 to about 25. They come from all over the United States, and there are a few who have come from outside its borders. Some of them have been in the service only a short time. Others have already served overseas more than once. Some like to jitterbug, others like to read. All of them find something they like to do at the civic center.

They don't realize yet that those good times and quiet, relaxing

Evenings could fade out after a nice start because the money ran out.

It could happen unless Sedalia's come through again.

McCarthy Gets Mixed In Big Political Stew

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has got himself involved in the biggest political hassle of his career and whether he rides out the storm successfully seems to depend largely on public reaction.

When McCarthy at first refused and then accepted "reluctantly" the resignation of J. B. Matthews as head of the Senate investigating subcommittee staff, the Wisconsin senator invited a religious controversy which most politicians regard as dynamite.

Matthews had said in an American Mercury magazine article that "the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

The Wisconsin senator, a Roman Catholic, said this wasn't an attack on the Protestant clergy, which he said he had "no remotest intention of investigating." He said it was written before Matthews was employed by his committee, and he pointed out that Matthews said the vast majority of Protestant clergymen were loyal.

But President Eisenhower's assertion that "such attacks portray contempt for the principles of freedom and decency" put him on the side against Matthews and, by implication, against McCarthy.

McCarthy never has seemed too worried about White House criticism, or criticism from almost any other source, for that matter. The Wisconsin senator is described by some of his colleagues as thriving on criticism.

However, he has avoided any direct breaks with President Eisenhower and has concentrated his fire on administration officials below the top level except for a harsh over one minister shipping with Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen.

McCarthy took in stride the resignation of three Democratic members of his investigating committee. Senators McClellan of Arkansas, Symington of Missouri and Jackson of Washington quit as a result of the Matthews incident when the four committee Republicans voted to let McCarthy hire and fire all personnel.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said that when the Republicans, including McCarthy, were in the minority the Democrats denied them the right to name any staff member. But now the Democrats on the full government operations committee, parent group of the investigating subcommittee, said they wouldn't fill the vacancies, this seemed to leave McCarthy and Republicans a free field for their inquiries.

Mundt said he hopes the Democrats will come back after they have thought the matter over. But the Democrats showed no signs of any such reversal of form.

McClellan, Symington and Jackson put themselves in a position to criticize McCarthy, his methods and his objectives if they choose to do so. Their actions also tended to put the Democratic party on record against McCarthy.

Whether that is good or bad for the Democrats remains to be seen. McCarthy is indelibly identified in many people's minds with the drive to root Communists out of public life. Whether the average citizen will take time to go into the details of why the Democrats quit—or just assume that they are against McCarthy—is a question politicians say will have to be answered later.

McCarthy doesn't mind a political fight with the Democrats. He seemed to relish his battles and he won them with former Democratic Senators Tydings of Maryland and Benton of Connecticut.

But there are some significant signs that the latest McCarthy incident could be damaging to the Wisconsin senator.

One of these was the statement by Sen. Byrd (D-Wa.) denouncing the "blanket charge" he said had been made by Matthews against the clergy and demanding that the former investigator name names.

"The chief bulwark in the world today against communism is the Christian faith as represented by our spiritual leaders," Byrd said. "To undermine the confidence and faith of our people in these spiritual leaders will impair our most virile and effective force for the preservation of Christianity and combatting communism."

Forecast Ike Appeal For Big Foreign Aid Fund

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Congressional leaders forecast today a personal appeal by President Eisenhower to Congress to appropriate five billion dollars for foreign aid.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he expects both the President and Secretary of State Dulles to take a strong stand against proposed cuts in the program for the present fiscal year.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), top Democrat on the Senate Armed Services Committee, predicted that Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, new NATO commander who arrives here tomorrow, will bolster the President's position with testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Smith said he hopes that the $5,129,000,000 compromise authorization bill before the House for action Monday will form the pattern for actual appropriations being considered in another measure.

"My guess is that we will be able to hold it at near that figure," he said.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), the Senate's majority leader, practically invited money reductions when he urged the Senate to approve the authorization bill without change and hold its fire until the money measure was before it.

Taft, who recently underwent an operation in a New York Hospital, is not expected to take part in the debate over the money bill.

There was plenty of evidence that other senators were in an economy mood.

Action On Curbing

Labor Racketeering

ST. LOUIS, July 11 (AP)—Legislation to curb labor racketeering in Missouri is the number one objective of the state Senate's Criminal Law Revision Committee.

Chairman A. D. Spradling, Cape Girardeau Democrat, said today.

The committee will wind up a three-day meeting here tomorrow. Public hearings will be held next Monday.

Sen. Spradling listed as second in importance on the committee's schedule a bill to limit wire-tapping to law enforcement authorities in specific federal cases.

Other law revision problems slated for committee study include those dealing with sex offenses, homicide and election fraud. Sen. Spradling said.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), top Democrat on the Senate Armed Services Committee, predicted that Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, new NATO commander who arrives here tomorrow, will bolster the President's position with testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Orders Dalton To Conduct Crime Probe

Gives Attorney General 'No Holds Barred' Authority To Check Situation

JEFFERSON CITY, July 11 (AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly ordered Attorney General John M. Dalton today to "investigate any and all matter which might come to your attention regarding any alleged violation of law in St. Louis County."

In the order, Donnelly apparently gave Dalton "no holds barred" authority to probe the entire law enforcement situation in St. Louis County. He said earlier he told Dalton in a telephone conversation Friday night to inquire into the shooting of a deputy sheriff there two weeks ago.

The governor started out that way in his written order to Dalton today but later paragraphs apparently opened the door to an investigation of any reported law violations in St. Louis County. The brief order read:

"I am enclosing a letter from the prosecuting attorney of St. Louis County, Honorable Stanley Wallach, requesting the assistance of your office in a grand jury investigation, if and when a grand jury is called, into the shooting of Chief Deputy Sheriff William Smith of St. Louis County by Deputy Sheriff Nick Burke of St. Louis County in a St. Louis County tavern on June 26, 1953.

"In view of the request made by Mr. Wallach, I am of the opinion that your office should assist in the investigation of said case. Therefore, I direct you, or one or more of your assistants, to assist the prosecuting attorney of St. Louis County in the investigation and prosecution of this case, and in all other matters which might develop from such an investigation.

You are further directed to inquire into and investigate any and all matters which might come to your attention regarding any alleged violation of law in St. Louis County."

Dalton made the announcement that he had the governor's authority to step into the St. Louis County probe. He said he also received a telegram from Wallach, formally requesting that the state take a hand in the investigation.

Armed with the governor's formal order, Dalton now can investigate any reports brought to him or that his assistants may ferret out in the course of the broad probe, take the information to any grand jury called there and help prosecute anyone charged with violating the law.

Guess On What Happens Next In Beria Case

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP)—Both Western and Russian observers in Moscow came forth today with calculated answers to the big question: What happens next in the Soviet treason case against Lavrenty P. Beria?

Basing their speculation on observation of Soviet justice and past performance, they generally summed up the immediate future like this:

1. The fallen deputy premier will be put on trial in the Supreme Court as a traitor without much delay and severely punished.

2. First news of the proceedings may go to the outside world from accounts published in Pravda and other newspapers.

3. The first accounts could be in the form of a brief official communiqué rather than newspaper reports.

4. More complete reports may become available after the proceedings have taken place.

The Moscow press was full of demands for severe punishment of Beria.

A buildup of worker denunciations of Beria apparently is a propaganda preliminary to the court trial itself.

Evening Moscow said the director of Moscow's Hammer and Sickle Steel Factory declared: "We the metallurgists of the capital, demand that the severe hand of Soviet justice should mercilessly punish this freak and deviationist."

Many columns were devoted to reporting indignation mass meetings throughout the Soviet Union against Beria.

Patrol Stops Trio In Car Near Sedalia

The members of the State Highway Patrol in Sedalia picked up a blue 1941 Ford sedan at the intersection of Highways 30 and 65 at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, after receiving a radio call from division headquarters in Lee's Summit ordering the apprehension of the persons driving a car of the same description bearing an Indiana plate.

The three in the vehicle at the time the patrol stopped the car were: Jack Arnold Meadows, 21, no permanent address; his wife, Archelle Meadows, 29, Henryville, Ind.; and Russell Christianse, 29, Minneapolis, Minn.

The three were taken to the Pettis County jail, where they will be picked up Sunday by officials from Taney County, who had alerted the patrol for their apprehension.

The Taney County officials are investigating a robbery of a filling station in their county, where burglars made off with several tires, tubes, oil filters, batteries, two oil cans, $35 in cash and several other automobile parts.

Wheat Quotas Set For Only 61,000,000 Acres

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Senate voted today to set 61 million acres as the most wheat farmers can plant next year and still keep the present rate of government price supports.

The voice vote, after hours of debate, was a big step in the race against time—a race that indirectly involves the votes of many farmers in congressional elections next year.

There are no wheat quotas now. In fact, none have been in operation since 1942. But farm law requires that they must be invoked when a big surplus crop is indicated, as it is for 1954. However, the farmers themselves must approve the quotas or the price support automatically drops.

The planting limit approved by the Senate would be six million more acres than allowed by existing law but five million fewer acres than voted by the House.

Unless the Senate and House reach agreement in time for President Eisenhower to sign a measure by next Wednesday, the 55 million acre planting limit specified in current law will prevail for next year.

In today's debate, Republican senators from wheat areas indicated they felt the limit should be closer to the 66 million acres approved by the House.

Whatever the limit, wheat farmers must approve it by a two-thirds majority in a nationwide referendum. Otherwise, the government support price drops from 90 to 50 percent of parity.

Parity is a price declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and consumers, in terms of the cost of what the farmer must buy.

The loan rate for wheat, now $2.21 a bushel, would go down to $1.23 unless the farmers approve the quotas. The referendum must be completed by Aug. 1.

Shortly before the bill passed, Sen. Carlson (R-Kas.) offered an amendment to exempt from 1954 acreage allotments areas that have been declared emergency disaster areas by President Eisenhower because of the drought.

However, he withdrew it after Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.), and others said the secretary of agriculture was authorized to permit farmers in such areas to plant more acreage to wheat than their allotment, provided the excess was to be used for grazing by livestock.

State Dept. Gets Braced In Book Fight

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—After sniffling ground time and again, the State Department has dug in for a last-ditch stand in the row over books in the American libraries overseas.

Administration officials now say there will be no withdrawal from the new position approved by Secretary of State Dulles, that from now on books will be judged on their contents and usefulness even if they are charged with controversy and the authors are Communists.

That serves to put the State Department into line with the expressed views of President Eisenhower. It is the culmination of a long "book purge" controversy which has ranged far beyond the issue of what volumes to put on and remove from the shelves of the 189 libraries in foreign cities.

The new policy was issued in the hope it would "clear the air" and help quench flames which officials say, have scorched American goodwill abroad at a critical time.

The policy faces an immediate challenge from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) who helped set off the row in the first place. McCarthy has summoned Dr. Robert L. Johnson, retiring head of the State Department's International Information Administration, to explain the "completely ridiculous" stand at a hearing next Wednesday before the Senate investigations subcommittee. Johnson's prompt response was a defense which appeared to forecast that this time there will be no backing down by the administration.

In essence, the revised policy provides:

1. The basic yardstick for choosing books will be their usefulness in a particular area in promoting understanding of the United States and advancing the free world cause.

2. Books will be selected on the basis of their content and their merits, although "the reputation or standing of the author" will be taken into account.

3. Books will not be barred solely because they are controversial, critical of some phases of American life, or because their authors are Communists or fellow-travelers. A Communist's writing may conceivably "serve the ends of democracy," Johnson said, and there is no point in weeding out such books as detective stories because the author is a Communist or suspected as such.

4. Controversial books are entirely acceptable but not those which advance the Communist conspiracy.

5. Selections of new books from now on will be put in the hands of advisory committees and not left to government officials.

6. Burning of any books is "a wicked symbolic" act and from now on those weeded out of the two million or more volumes already on the shelves will be disposed of by other methods.

This is the most carefully drafted and specific policy worked out thus far to deal with a touchy problem, but in general it is like the yardsticks which were laid down before the dispute developed soon after the inauguration.

It is a far cry from the sweeping anti-Communist ban put on hurriedly last Feb. 18 when the "Voice of America" radio was under investigation by a Senate subcommittee. That was just before the inquiry was focused on the libraries and McCarthy asserted there were 30,000 "Communist books" on the shelves.

Lanolin Plus Does Wonders For Your Skin

Your Skin Wakes Up to New Beauty and Exquisite Softness With Lanolin Plus Liquid

ONE OF THE most serious beauty problems women face is premature wrinkles, due to excessive dryness or climatic conditions. The longer this dry condition exists, the deeper and more permanent the premature wrinkles and crow's-feet become. Now with Lanolin Plus Liquid, you can help replenish vital oils that are so essential to a smoother, more youthful complexion.

Harsh cleansing methods remove the skin's natural lubricants—esters and cholesterol—and in many cases, may further dry out your skin. All you have to do is soften the skin and premature wrinkles become less and less apparent. Try this wonderfully refreshing facial with LANOLIN PLUS LIQUID at night before you go to bed. Your face will feel relaxed and refreshed—and you'll feel a glowing kind of youthful vitality in your skin. And when your skin feels this good, you just know it looks radiant and exquisitely smooth!

Your Hands Will Look Lovelier ... Feel Softer With Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion

Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion can bring your hands back to their original softness, or didn't know you really had. With each bottle, you receive as a gift the convenient dispenser shown here. Dispenser drops just the right amount of Lanolin Plus into your hands so you never waste a precious drop.

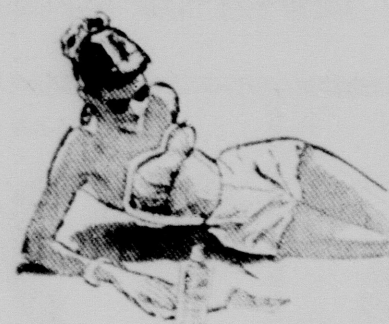

You can't imagine what beauty you have in the palms of your hands until you use Lanolin Plus Hand Lotion. For Lanolin Plus, containing the right amount of lanolin with its valuable esters and cholesterol, penetrates your skin and replenishes vital oils that your hands need to make them feel and look smooth as silk.

It's no wonder that Lanolin Plus is so effective. Years ago on the plains of Australia, during sheep-shearing season, the hands of the men were dry and calloused. But almost immediately an amazing phenomenon occurred. Their hands became softer and smoother. The secret? Lanolin, the closest duplication of the natural oils of our human skin, is found in the fats and oils of the sheep's wool. As the men sheared the sheep, lanolin was absorbed into their skin. And gradually their hands became softer and smoother. Today chemists have found a way to blend an abundant amount of lanolin into Lanolin Plus. The formula holds an exclusive United States patent.

Treat your hands to this entirely new feeling of petal-freshness and softness. Use LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION all through your busy day. It works quickly, then disappears like magic. So reasonably priced, too—only one dollar, plus tax, at all cosmetic counters.

With Lanolin Plus Suntan Lotion, You Can Help Prevent Peeling...Get A Smooth, Even Tan

Here for the first time is a suntan lotion containing not only a filtering agent that screens out the sun's harmful ultra violet rays, but also an abundant amount of Lanolin Plus that helps to stop peeling before it ever gets started! Most peeling is due to excessive dryness caused by overexposure to the burning, drying rays of the sun. Lanolin Plus Suntan Lotion starts its softening action the minute you apply it to your body... and it keeps your skin thoroughly lubricated while you're under the sun.

No wonder you'll have your most attractive tan ever when you use Lanolin Plus Suntan Lotion. So economical, too. A dollar* bottle lasts the average sun-worshiper through a glorious tan! Get LANOLIN PLUS SUNTAN LOTION at your cosmetic counter now... and make sure your skin is soft and lovely every single day this summer.

Make Your Skin Softer, Smoother "All Over" With Lanolin Plus Body Lotion

From the time of the early Egyptians, women who have longed for loveliness have tried to keep their skin soft and smooth with various fragrant oils. Now, for your every-day enjoyment, there is a heavenly body lotion, enriched with lanolin to keep every inch of you "petal-soft." No matter what the weather, this creamy-smooth liquid penetrates, and protects your skin from the drying effects of sun, wind and dry air.

Never before was there such a luxurious lotion—so delicately scented, so gently effective, as Lanolin Plus Body Lotion. You'll love the way it helps replenish vital oils, dried out from frequent bathing. A superb blend of protecting, softening oils and lanolin, this new body lotion makes you feel refreshingly relaxed, lovely all over!

It takes so little... spreads so easily... and is so economical that you'll want to use it faithfully. Don't let a day go by without using your LANOLIN PLUS BODY LOTION. You'll find the generous twelve-ounce bottle only $1.50, plus tax, at all cosmetic counters.

Hold a hot washcloth to your face and neck for about a minute to open pores and allow tired muscles to relax.

Warm the bottle of Lanolin Plus Liquid under hot water (tap). Briskly massage into face and neck until skin begins to tingle.

After a few minutes, wipe your face petal-fresh.

Rinse your face and neck with cold water. Then gently massage a few drops of Lanolin Plus Liquid into your skin before retiring. Its gentle, penetrating action will work while you sleep... and you'll wake next morning to find new radiant beauty in your skin. There's no need to let premature wrinkles make you look older. Use LANOLIN PLUS LIQUID faithfully every day. You'll find it at all cosmetic counters for only one dollar, plus tax.

Your Hair Will Be Lovelier, More Manageable If It's In Good Condition

All the new "hair-dos", rinses, permanents and bleaches in the world can't make your hair look prettier if it isn't in good condition. Simple, basic care of your hair is your first step toward hair beauty. And Lanolin Plus For The Hair should be your first thought.

If your hair is dull, dry and unmanageable, it will surely welcome the refreshing, softening influence of Lanolin Plus. For lanolin, with its rich base of stimulating esters and cholesterol, is the closest duplication of Nature's own lubricants. Too often the cleansing highlights and lovely softness that Nature meant for your hair to have are taken away by various kinds of harsh hair treatment, water, and the drying effects that come from exposure to sun or wind. When that happens—and even before it happens—look to Lanolin Plus For The Hair to supplement precious, natural oils and bring out sparkling highlights. It can be used in several ways. Before a shampoo: Rub gently into scalp and massage hair strands. If you prefer, use it the night before you shampoo. After each shampoo: If dryness is severe, brush a few drops through the hair, and in the ends. Every day: A few drops brushed on help to keep unruly locks and stray ends beautifully in place.

You'll find, too, that the men of your house will like this new, lanolin-rich lotion for their hair. Imparts a well-groomed sheen to hair... and it's so lightly scented.

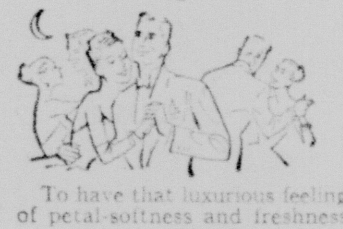

Give your hair a chance to look its best. Get LANOLIN PLUS FOR THE HAIR soon. At all cosmetic counters, only a dollar, plus tax.

You owe it to yourself to discover the wondrous things Lanolin Plus products can do for you. When you use them faithfully, you'll have the key that brings forth skin and hair beauty you may never have realized you had!

Bits About Beauty by Cynthia Russell

This summer, if you want to be sure your skin feels soft and looks smooth day and night, follow this simple routine carefully. When you've spent hours in the sun, your skin is apt to become very dry so after you bathe, use Lanolin Plus Body Lotion liberally. That way you'll keep your shoulders, arms and back looking soft and lovely-to-touch when you wear your off-the-shoulder evening clothes.

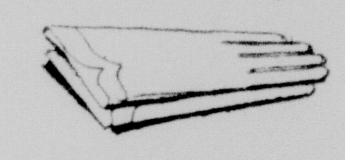

To have that luxurious feeling of petal-softness and freshness after bathing, apply your Lanolin Plus Body Lotion before you're completely dry. You'll find that it spreads more easily and disappears more quickly, leaving your skin satin-smooth and feeling wonderful!

Don't let summer sun steal the softness from your hair. Before you go out to face the burning rays of the sun and the drying effects of water, always massage your scalp with a little Lanolin Plus For The Hair. You'll find this will supplement your natural oils and all summer long your hair will look like shining satin.

If you're going on a vacation, be sure to pack an old pair of cotton gloves. Then every night when you go to bed, massage LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION into your hands and around the base of your nails to help prevent callouses and hangnails. Wear your cotton gloves overnight and see how lovely and soft your hands feel the next morning. Chances are you'll discover that your manicure lasts longer, too!

Reveal Your Hair's Natural Loveliness With Lanolin Plus Hard Water Shampoo

Perhaps you are one of the many women who are at a loss to know how to keep their hair and scalp scrupulously clean, yet preserve the natural oils that are essential to soft, glistening hair. Possibly you've found that ordinary cleansing has either had a severe drying action, leaving the scalp flaky and the hair brittle and unmanageable, or has left a sticky, dulling film on your hair.

Now, Lanolin Plus Hard Water Shampoo answers this problem for you. For this is the shampoo that contains a superabundance of lanolin, the nearest duplication of nature's own oils. It not only helps lubricate scalp and soften hair, but at the same time it lathers beautifully in the hardest water. Its rich, lanolinized suds thoroughly whisk away dirt and grime so that the hair is left soft and silken and gleaming, as it should be. Just as the shampoo cleanses, its oil pampers the hair.

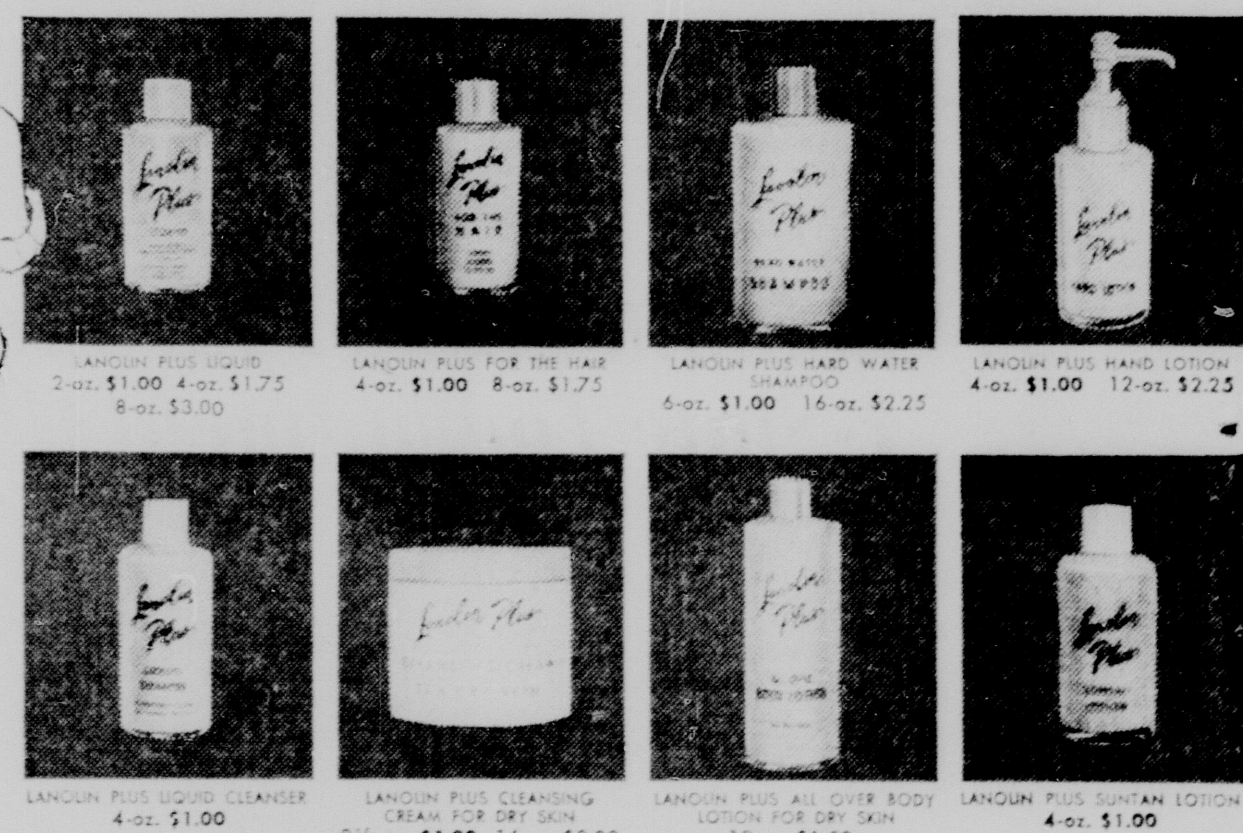

It's economical, too, because it's fast-acting, and ordinarily only one application is needed each time you wash your hair. All cosmetic counters can supply you with LANOLIN PLUS HARD WATER SHAMPOO for only a dollar. You'll never know how really clean, soft and manageable your hair can be until you use this thorough shampoo, containing such a generous supply of lanolin. Try it, and see if you're not amazed at the new loveliness it gives to your hair.

Chiefs Begin Second Half Season Play With 3 to 1 Victory

Sedalia Ban Johnson League Champions Of First Half Season Take Boonville In Game Here with Brown as the Winner

Larry Mines' double after one out in the second inning started a rally by the Sedalia Chiefs Friday night that allowed them to count three runs and defeat the Boonville Lions, 3-1, in the opening game of the second half of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson season. The game was played at Sedalia's Liberty Park. After Mines got to second, Brown was safe on an error and Higgins singled and the right fielder made an error on the relay of the ball. That allowed Mines and Brown to score. Case was out on a sacrifice bunt that scored Higgins. That was the scoring for the Chiefs, but it was enough. In the last of the ninth Boonville scored its lone run when Brown walked Haas and a double by Farris sent him across.

It was a tight ball game except for those two scoring frames, both teams batting only three and four men per inning in all but one more inning each. The Chiefs threatened in the eighth when Higgins singled and Thomas walked, but both men died on base. Boonville offered a threat in the sixth when they loaded the bases on a single, an error and a fielder's choice.

Brown struck out eight Boonville batters and walked three while May, the Lions hurler, fanned five and issued on free pass.

Only extra base hits of the night were doubles by Mines, Se-

Browns Shatter Tigers' Hopes Second Time, 7-2

DETROIT, July 11 (P)—The Detroit Tigers hopes of climbing out of the American League cellar were shattered for the second straight day today by a barrage of St. Louis Browns home runs as the seventh-place Browns clubbed out a 7-2 decision.

The homers, which backed up a neat five-hit pitching effort by Bob Cain, put the Browns three full games in front of the lowly Tigers in their struggle for the unwanted basement spot.

Dick Kokos got a pair of the winners' homers, while Dick Kryhoski and Bob Young each got one. It ran the Browns' home run total to eight in the first two games of the four game series.

St. Louis sewed the game up in a hurry with a big four-run second inning that included the home runs by Kryhoski and Young, doubles by Cain and Johnny Groth and a single by Dick Kokos.

Cain yielded a single to Tiger leadoff man Harvey Kuenn in the first inning, but gave up no more hits until the seventh when Walt Drogo doubled.

The Tigers' only runs came in the eighth on a walk and Don Lund's fifth homer.

Nationals Win 16-3 In Little League All-Stars Practice

The National League ran away from the American League 16 to 3 in a practice game between the Little League all-stars Saturday afternoon at the Little League Stadium.

Noland, Bredwell and Gates pitched for the Nationals and allowed only three hits. Cramer and Coffey hurled for the Americans and were nipped for 15 safeties.

Both managers used all players assigned to them in trying to pick the squad which will represent each league in the sectional tournament this year. The National League, while showing great superiority, was going much as was expected since the teams in that league are the hold-overs from last year's smaller league which had only four teams.

Discover Ruins Of Old Roman City, Called Greatest Since Pompeii

NAPLES, Italy, July 11 (P)—A leading Italian archeologist announced today the discovery of ruins of an ancient Roman city, which he termed "the most important archeological discovery of Roman antiquity since Pompeii."

Prof. Amedeo Maiuri, president of the International Committee for Archeological and Historical Museums, said his workers uncovered the ruins at Baia, 11 miles northwest of Naples.

Here the Romans had a prosperous bathing center, much like Pompeii, the professor said. Workers have dug away the mud and sands of centuries to reveal three complete sets of baths, a theater, vast terraces, and works of sculpture. The excavation is proceeding.

Weathermen Miss, Get Good Picnic Day

ST. LOUIS, July 11 (P)—Weather Bureau employees were a cheerful bunch today—they got through their annual picnic without rain. To top it off they had predicted the fair weather.

None of the bureau's picnics in recent years has escaped at least brief showers until today.

The bureau head, Harry F. Wahlgren, didn't take any credit for the success, however — It's just luck, we set the date weeks ago," he said.

Tom Fool, With 136 Pounds, Wins Bklyn. Handicap

NEW YORK, July 11 (P)—Greenlee Sabie's great Tom Fool carried a hefty 136 pounds to victory today in the 65th running of the Brooklyn Handicap, easily trimming four rivals as he became the second horse to make a grand slam in the handicap triple crown.

An Aqueduct closing crowd of 28,968 began cheering Tom Fool at a sixth of a mile from the finish of his brilliant victory, which followed scores in the Metropolitan and Suburban handicaps in May. The only other horse to win the three the same year was Whisk Broom 11 in 1913.

Tom Fool, ridden as usual by Ted Atkinson, also became the second horse to win the Brooklyn Handicap in 1952, having won it in 1947. He was inaugurated in 1987, carrying 136 pounds. Alfred Vanderbilt's Discovery won with that weight in 1936, his third straight Brooklyn victory.

Tom Fool's time was 2:04 2/5 for the mile and one quarter on a fast track, but he won as pleased and time was no factor.

The stakes record is 2:04 1/5, set last year by Crafty Admiral but carrying only 116 pounds.

Tom Fool beat the Belair Stud's Golden Gloves by a length and one half, with the King Ranch's High Sead seven long lengths away in third place.

Babe Zaharias Gives Comfort To Cancer Victim At Hospital

MIAMI, Fla., July 11 (P)—Babe Zaharias showed up 30 minutes late today for a press conference. She had been talking to a woman cancer victim being prepared for surgery in a Miami hospital.

"I knew you wouldn't mind," the great woman golfer told the reporters. "The woman said she might feel better if I told her how I made out with my cancer operation."

"I tried to encourage her, like thousands of people encouraged me when I was in the same spot."

"I told her an athlete has no better chance against cancer than anybody else—that she could lick it, too, if she got in there and pitched."

The reason for the press conference was to announce that the Babe, on the comeback trail after a successful battle with cancer, would return to tournament golf at the Tam O'Shanter tournament in Chicago starting July 30.

"I don't know if I can hold my own," she said. "I've got to find out. I'm going to start in the Tam O'Shanter. If I do all right there, I'll hit the trail again."

Pitcher's Wild Throw Lets BoSox Win In 9th

BOSTON, July 11 (P)—Relief pitcher Carl Scheff's wild throw on Milt Bolling's sacrifice today enabled Tom Umpflett to score from second base with the ninth inning run that gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Dick Gernert hit a two-run homer for the Red Sox and Joe Demaestri homered for the Athletics.

Philadelphia 010 000 011—3 8 3 Boston 200 010 001—4 5 2 Bishop, Fanovich (9), Scheff (9) and Murray; McDermott, Kinder (8) and White.

Four teams representing the cream of 98 Little Leagues in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and Southern Illinois will play in the Sedalia Sectional (Little League Section 3).

There will be district tournaments held Aug. 4-5 at Peria, Ill., Centralia, Ill., Ottumwa, Ia., and Joplin, Mo., to determine the teams to come here.

Directors of these tourneys are Harold Lintz, Peoria; Howard Cooksey, Centralia; Wayne Shaw, Ottumwa, and Jim Walters, Joplin.

There will be a 24-page program for the sectional meet here, and while there will be no active soliciting from local merchants, anyone who desires advertising in the program may obtain it by contacting either LaVerne Twenter or B. A. Fischer.

Stewart, State Amateur Champ, Blair Lead Sedalia Open Field

Bill Stewart, who recently won the Missouri State Amateur, and Jim Tom Blair, the 1952 champion, are expected to head the non-pro contingent in the $1,000 Sedalia Open to be played over the 6,360-yard Country Club layout July 27.

Stewart received a special invitation last week, and Blair, who placed second among the amateurs in last year's meet, has informed tourney officials that he expects to attend.

Several professionals have declared their intention to be on hand in pursuit of the $300 first-place money.

Recent ones include Springfield's Arlin Stone and Tom Talbott, Leon Faucett of Dallas, Tex., and the likable, talkative Leonard Dodson of Mission, Kan.

Faucett, whose home is in Aurora, Mo., will be in Kansas City for the lucrative KC Open and will follow many tourney-trail pros here after the Kansas City event closes July 26.

Dodson, who tied for first place in the pro bracket in the first Sedalia tourney in 1949, recently represented the state of Kansas in the Professional Golfers Association meet in Birmingham, Mich.

With the tourney only two weeks away, the list is expected to grow daily. As yet few entries have been received from the Kansas City and St. Louis areas, although it is known that many, both pros and amateurs, will be on hand.

Several name professionals should be here for the event. The aforementioned Kansas City Open is the last major event on the play-for-pay tour before George May's fabulous world championship event at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter course a full week later.

This, in itself, should lure pros here, since Sedalia is almost directly on the way to Chicago.

Then, of course, the $300 first money is relatively large for a one-day, 18-hole event. Other pro money is divided $200, $150, $100, $75, $50 and $25.

There will be four amateur merchandise awards of $40, $30, $20 and $10 in value and 20 additional prizes.

All local golfers are encouraged to play. The entry fee is $7.50 with a $1 gallery charge.

US Sweeps Davis Cup Challenge Round With Japan

VANCOUVER, B. C. July 11 (P)—The United States completed a 5-0 sweep of the Davis Cup zone matches against Japan here today.

Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., scored a 6-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 victory over Kosei Kamo, Japan's No. 2 ranked player, in the final match.

Tom Brown, San Francisco attorney, and eighth ranked U. S. amateur, scored a 6-2, 6-0, 6-1 victory over Masanobu Kimura of Japan in the day's first singles match.

The U. S. had scored two singles and a doubles victory in the first two days of playing the North American Zone's first elimination matches.

It was the third straight year that the U. S. tennis forces have routed the Japanese by 500 scores.

The drama of today's singles were provided by 21-year-old Kamo, as it was on the first day of play when he ran up an opening two-set edge over Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, the U. S. team captain, only to lose out at the finish.

The U. S. plays the British West Indies in the second North American round.

Wins Army Golf Title

DENVER, July 11 (P)—PFC. John Knight of Fort Sheridan, Ill., won the Fifth Army golf tournament today, defeating PFC. Robert Hold of Fort Riley, Kas., 4 and 3.

Cards' Miller Trips Braves In A Shutout

ST. LOUIS, July 11 (P)—Stu Miller handcuffed Milwaukee with his slow curves tonight as the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 5-0 victory that put them only one-half game behind the Braves and just two and a half out of first place in the National League.

Backing the four-hit pitching by which Miller gained his fourth victory and second shutout, the Cardinals pointed out 10 blows which included Stan Musial's tenth homer and his 24th double.

The losing pitcher in the second place battle, watched by a crowd of 23,219, was Max Surkont, husky Milwaukee right-hander who now has suffered four defeats against nine victories. Miller and the Cardinals also beat him last Sunday at Milwaukee, 4-1.

Two walks and singles by Ray Jablonski and Rip Repulski produced two runs in the first. Musial homered in the third.

Ferrell Anderson's second hit, a single, and Solly Hemus' triple added the fourth run in the sixth and Musial's double, Enos Slaughter's infield single and Jablonski's outfield fly furnished the final marker an inning later.

Miller, who walked only two batters, yielded a single to Johnny Logan, Milwaukee shortstop, but was untroubled by the Braves' power. The visitors reached second base only twice, Logan on a first-inning double and Bill Bruton as a result of two singles in the sixth.

Surkont, who was lifted in the third, gave up four hits and three of the runs. Lew Burdette, the Braves' third hurler, yielded the other tallies.

Milwaukee ... 000 000 000—0 4 0 St. Louis ... 201 001 10x—5 10 0 Surkont, Johnson (3), Burdette (5), Jolly (8) and St. Clair, Miller and Anderson.

Lobo Takes 12th Broadmoor Golf Tourney With 162

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 11 (P)—Lesbia Lobo, 19-year-old Texas champion, won the 12th annual Broadmoor women's golf tournament today, edging out 16-year-old Judy Bell of Wichita, Kas., 2 up.

Miss Bell is Kansas champion. Part of the match was played during an intermittent rain.

Miss Lobo, whose home is at San Antonio, had to come from behind to win the 36-hole encounter. At the end of the first 18 holes she was three down.

She started out at a blazing pace during the afternoon, however, and finished the back nine 2 up, taking five consecutive holes. After that, it was a see-saw battle which Miss Lobo won on the 18th hole when Miss Bell's drive was a low, bouncing shot.

Twice during the afternoon, Miss Lobo dropped putts of 40 feet. During the mulling it was Miss Bell's putter which gave her the tourney lead.

Miss Lobo's 36-hole card over the tough course was 162 and Miss Bell's was 165. Par is 150.

Miss Lobo was tourney medalist.

Studer, Patterson Lead Semi-Finals Of Country Club

The semi-finals of the Sedalia Country Club Championship matches got underway Saturday afternoon as Herb Studer, defending champion, met Dick Gorrell and Charles Patterson matched with Phil Costello for 18 holes of the 36-hole affair. Studer met strong opposition in Gorrell and was two down after the first 9 holes but battled back to finish 2 up on Gorrell. Patterson and Costello played a close match, with Patterson finishing 1 up on Costello for the 18 holes.

The remaining 18 holes of both matches will be played today, tee-off time being 1 p.m.

The finals will be played Sunday, July 19.

Hits Don't Count, But Money Does

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 11 (P)—A husband can go just so far. In a divorce suit filed in circuit court today a woman stated her spouse hit her in the face and broke her nose. She didn't do anything about it.

Then he knocked her from the seat of the family car. She did not report it.

Then he borrowed $700 from her and didn't pay her.

She filed a divorce suit.

Jailers Try To Get Jailbird Out Of Jail

ST. JOSEPH, July 11 (P)—Jailers here are trying to get a fellow out of jail.

He is Morris Powell, serving six months for disturbing the peace. The county jailers say he has a skin rash due to "tangled nerves."

Fearful his malady may be contagious, they have asked the court to release him on a stay of execution.

Homer-Happy Nationals Rate 7-5 Favorite To Win 4th-In-Row All Star Battle Tuesday

By JOE REICHLER
CINCINNATI, July 11 (AP)—The homer-happy National League team, boasting one of the most powerful representative squads in years, ruled a stout 7-5 favorite to capture its fourth straight victory over the American League at Crosley Field next Tuesday.

Starting pitchers and batting orders will not be named until 11 a. m. Monday, but it was almost a foregone conclusion that Charlie Dressen, who will manage the National leaguers, will send Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's remarkable righthander, to the mound for the first three innings. Roberts, who has won 13 and lost only six this season, pitched in winning All-Star games in 1951 and 1952.

American League Pilot Casey Stengel, who will be seeking his first All-Star victory in four straight attempts, is expected to counter with Billy Pierce, Chicago's little lefthander. Pierce, the only southpaw on the junior circuit's six-man pitching staff, will be facing a starting lineup that boasts six lefthanders, exclusive of the pitchers. His season record is 10 victories and four defeats.

A capacity crowd of some 31,000 is expected to attend the classic, second held in this city. One of the seven victories gained by the National League was turned in here in 1938 when Johnny Vander Meer was returned the victor over Lefty Gomez, 4-1. The American League has won 12.

The starting lineups, voted by the nation's fans who cast 4,500,000 ballots, are as follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati, first base.
Al Schoendienst, St. Louis, second base.
Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee, third base.
Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn, short stop.

Stan Musial, St. Louis, left field.
Gus Bell, Cincinnati, center field.
Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, right field.
Roy Campanella, Brooklyn, catcher.

AMERICAN

Mickey Vernon, Washington, first base.
Billy Goodman, Boston, second base.
Al Rosen, Cleveland, third base.
Chico Carrasquel, Chicago, short stop.
Gus Zernial, Philadelphia, left field.

Mickey Mantle, New York, center field.
Hank Bauer, New York, right field.
Yogi Berra, New York, catcher.

While Stengel has been under constant fire for several of his selections, especially pitchers, few could find fault with Dressen's picks. Chuck's attacking force includes 10 players who have hit 10 or more home runs this season and the 18 players, exclusive of pitchers, have whacked 214 round trippers. At the same time, Dressen's pitchers, consisting of four righthanders and three southpaws, have won 64 games and lost only 33.

The chief criticism against Stengel was his failure to select more than one lefthanded pitcher to throw against the predominantly southpaw - swinging National leaguers. Casey has an imposing array of sluggers but their combined home run total is 130, 84 fewer than made by their rivals. The combined record of the six pitchers is 47 victories and 30 defeats.

It was the four-base wallop, an old American League weapon, in the days of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx, that was responsible for the last three Na-

Grand Circuit Awakens Oldest Trotting Oval For Five Days

GOSHEN, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—The woman announcer, pleasantly frugal with words, gives the information over the loud speaker that "The horses are now in the hands of the starter."

The organ music — yes, organ music — ceases, and the quiet crowd in the grandstand stirs expectantly, then chatters excitedly as the car carrying the starting gate pulls away and the field is left on its own.

The atmosphere of suppressed excitement is in keeping with the serenity of the setting, as Historic Track, the oldest trotting oval in the country, has all the attributes of a county fair and a small county fair, at that.

You have to hunt around to find it. If you've never been here before, you are in for a surprise.

national League victories. A home run by Schoendienst in the 14th inning proved to be the winning blow in 1950. Four-baggers by Musial, Ralph Kiner, Bob Elliott and Gil Hodges ruined the American League in '51. Circuit clouts by Jackie Robinson and Hank Sauer accounted for the National League five-inning 3-2 triumph last summer.

Crosley Field spectators may see a record number of home runs hit in Tuesday's clash. Such lefthanded sluggers as Kluszewski, Mathews, Musial, Berra and the switch hitting Mantle are looking forward with relish to swinging for the right field fence, brought in some 40 feet last spring.

Ben Hogan To Relax In Paris After Winning British Open

By STERLING SLAPPEY

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 11 (AP)—Ben Hogan, trying hard to relax the tension built up during his smashing triumph in the British Open golf championship, hurried his plans today for a vacation in Paris.

Hogan, first golfer to hold at one time the U. S. and British Open championships and the Masters title, was "feeling a little better," said his wife. The attack of influenza which struck him yesterday before he won the British title with a 282 score had melted into "just a very bad cold," Mrs. Hogan said just before she left for Edinburgh to catch the Paris plane.

"I thought we should put off going to Paris until Sunday and let Ben rest another day, but he didn't want to wait," the quiet Mrs. Hogan said in a southern drawl contrasting to the hard "r's" of Scotland.

"We've never been to Paris before, neither of us. And you know how you feel before your first trip to Paris, well, Ben just talked me into going this afternoon."

The quiet Texan, who has shown a warmth of personality to these Scots which seldom was noted during American tournaments, will play an exhibition near Paris for servicemen Wednesday.

He probably won't play competitively until next spring, possibly at the Masters, Mrs. Hogan said. The remainder of the time in Paris, Mrs. Hogan said, "We will just sightsee, walk around, enjoy some good food, and let Ben catch up on his rest."

The Hogans will fly from Paris to New York and arrive July 21. The golf master's superb 68 over Carnoustie's 7,280 yards, on the final round will be remembered and talked about long after his return, however.

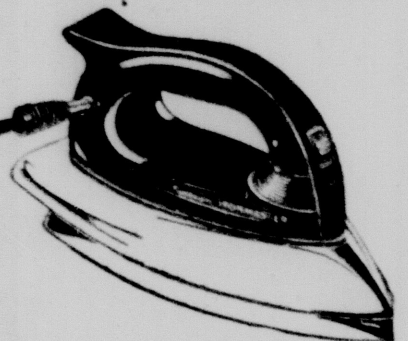

The United States Golf Association museum in New York has asked Hogan for the ball he used on 18th finishing hole. Hogan said he was "delighted and honored" to give the ball to the USGA.

Record books will usually carry more than just the usual fact that Ben Hogan won the British Open at Carnoustie in 1953 with ever descending scores of 73, 71, 70, 68 for his 282.

That 68 is a new competitive with owners and trainers coming from all over the country for a sort of get-together of the clan.

It is admitted the track is operated at a loss, but that is inconsequential. E. Roland Harriman, the president of the Orange County Driving Association, can afford the luxury.

He and his fellow officials get their kick out of carrying on a tradition dating back 100 years, a tradition which seems to be exemplified by the two gnarled old oaks which stand as sturdy sentinels in the infield.

They are the only infield decoration except for a small tombstone surrounded by a railing and marking the grave of Stamboul, a famed standardbred of half a century ago.

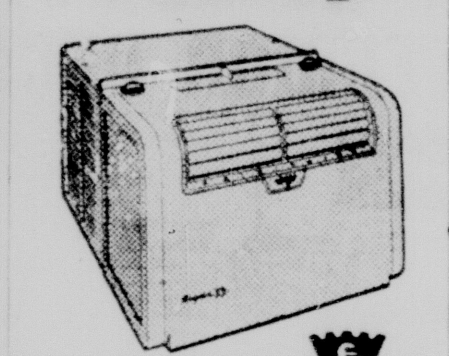

The drivers are a sturdy lot. There is 71-year-old Tom Berry, a black cigar clutched firmly in his teeth and a twinkle in his eyes as he tells of the time, a few years back, when he went to a hospital for a checkup, which included X-rays.

The famous physician looked at the plates, then blurted: "This old so-and-so has had every bone in his body broken. I don't know what the matter with him, but you tell him to take these pills four times a day."

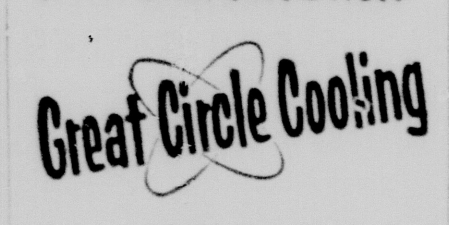

And there is smallish and youthful Joe O'Brien, a confirmed pessimist; and youngish Del Cameron, superstitious to an astonishing degree, and skinny, sturdy Sandy Russell, who took a bad spill in the first race Wednesday, got himself patched up, and was right back in the sulky for the next race.

Schlitz Leaders, scoring regularly, one run per frame for three straight innings, and adding another in the fifth, took the Houston Merchants in tow 4-2 Friday night to remain the undefeated leaders of the Central Missouri Softball League.

Sanders tossed a two hitter for the Leaders, allowing only two runs. One was on an error and a triple by Smith made the other possible. Smith scored both times.

For the Leaders, Weller had two for three and counted twice and Sanders got two hits in three trips and scored once. Both had one double, as did Norvill.

Sanders struck out 14 Houstonia batters to account for two-thirds of the outs.

Halt Draft Deferments For Fathers

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Eisenhower today ordered the discontinuance, effective Aug. 25 of draft deferments because of fatherhood unless drafters can show extreme hardship and privation would result.

Under an executive order which the White House said was designed to correct "a serious inequity," all registrants now deferred as fathers will continue to be deferred. But after Saturday those between 18½ and 26 years of age now so deferred cannot use fatherhood as a basis for attaining exemption except in extreme hardship cases.

Officials said the order was designed to end the practice of registrants getting "double deferments" by obtaining temporary deferment as students, agricultural workers, or workers in critical occupations, and meanwhile getting married and becoming fathers, thus getting a continuing deferment.

Under this practice, the White House said, the double deferments have resulted in the calling up for duty of many younger registrants earlier than they normally would have been called in order to fill monthly military quotas.

Order reservists also have been called up earlier than otherwise would be necessary and in addition, the multiple deferments were said to have jeopardized many bona fide occupational deferments.

Local boards were described as reluctant to grant occupational deferments, or deferments to permit registrants to attend college or work on farms, if they believed the registrants might become fathers during their temporary deferment period and "thus escape service permanently."

He Computes Height at 31,000 Feet— Cole Camp Man May Be First To Fly Over Lofty Mt. Everest

E. L. Lickhoff Jr., of Cole Camp, rect as the newer figure which believes he was the first man to fly over the top of Mt. Everest, and he calculates the height of the world's tallest mountain at 31,000 feet.

When Mt. Everest has come into the news as the British climbers reached the top for the first time. They have computed the height as 29,002 feet, which is now being accepted as the official figure.

Back in 1945, when he was a flight officer in service, Lickhoff was piloting a B-24 over the "hump" in India and he made a side trip to Mt. Everest, flying over the peak at 32,000 feet and taking photographs of the snow-capped mountain as he flew near it and over the top.

He believes his crew, with himself at the controls, was the first to go over the top since the territory was out of bounds for almost all planes.

When he left his base, Lickhoff recalls, the temperature was in the 80s, while at the time he was over the top of the mountain the mercury was at 18 degrees below zero. That was a 98 degree drop in temperature for the crew in a period of less than six hours as they left their field, which was 600 feet above sea level, and soared to the 32,000 foot mark.

From his own altitude, Lickhoff

Convicts Start Raging Fire In Prison Shop

SALEM, Ore. — Rebellious convicts started a raging fire in the Oregon state prison tailor shop today and guards promptly drove them at gunpoint into a fenced enclosure.

Not a shot was fired as the 1,100 men, sullen and silent, walked slowly into the enclosure at the north end of the prison yard, a baseball diamond.

The Salem city fire department rushed inside the walls as soon as the men were corralled.

But it was too late to save the tailor shop. The two-story brick structure burned with a fury that put blistering heat on the hospital, only 75 feet away. It held 400 convicts.

The fire was set at 8:15 a. m. by convicts, on sit-down strike since yesterday morning to enforce a long list of demands. They tried the shop after tear gas had been fired into the dining room as a means of separating them from food.

It was a sudden break to the night-long moderate calm.

Less than an hour after the fire broke out, a score of guards, bearing rifles and shotguns, moved the men into the fenced enclosure. State police shifted along the walls, holding rifles on the convicts.

There was a little fire in the prison machine shop. A report that fire had been set in the flax sheds, too, apparently was either erroneous or the blaze went out quickly.

State of Emergency After 12 Arson Cases Finally Is Lifted

FRESNO, Calif. — A state of emergency—declared in this Central California city of 92,000 after 12 incendiary fires broke out almost simultaneously—was lifted today by Mayor Gordon Dunn.

But National Guardsmen, whose use was authorized by Gov. Earl Warren, still patrolled the city to prevent looting and further arson.

Police picked up 17 persons for questioning after the outbreak of fires plunged the city into a near-panic yesterday.

But all of them were released and Detective Captain Dan Lang commented they "confessed to everything but arson."

Chick Donaldson, 212 - pound center of the West Virginia football team, couldn't make his high school squad. He weighed only 118 pounds then.

Average age of members of the new 83rd Congress is 53. Two years ago it was nearly 54.

HINKY, PINKY AND DINKY FROLIC IN THE BARNYARD—Triplet bulls, which were born at the W. E. Wilborn farm, seven miles southwest of Sedalia in the Camp Branch district, have caused a great deal of excitement as far as the Wilborns, Kenneth, and other children are concerned. The triplets were born six weeks ago and are white faced Herefords as are the calves, is a registered bull, which the Wilborns obtained from the Julian Bagby farm. The mother is a four-year-old cow, which had one other calf last year. The mother and the calves were all reported fine after they were found in a pasture by the Wilborns.

Van Heflin Still Goes to College

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Some movie stars buy ranches for old age insurance; others marry wealthy wives. Van Heflin goes to college.

Heflin, as far as I know, is the only big-time movie name who is still a college student. He was graduated from the University of Oklahoma, studied a year at the Yale drama school and now is working for a master's degree at UCLA. He hopes eventually to get his Ph. D.

"When I get too old for the movies," he explains, "I don't want to wind up loafing around a movie set as an extra or a bit player."

Van hopes to spend his twilight years in some small college campus as a professor of drama.

"I can't think of a finer way of life after a career in this hectic mad, rat race we call the theater," he says.

Van doesn't believe that acting can be taught.

"It's one of those talents that you are born with. Either you have it or you don't. But I can teach youngsters a few tricks of the trade."

He believes that the greatest source of learning about the theater is in listening to actors reminisce about their careers. That, he hopes, will help him get located on a nice elm-shaded campus.

That academic phase of Van's life admittedly is a long way off. At the moment, he apparently is director George Stevens' favorite actor, a spot that most any star in town would love to be in. Stevens put Van in "Shane" and has spotted him in "The Caramanchos."

Naturally, Heflin's favorite director is Stevens.

Donnelly Signs One of Mental Health Plan Bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Gov. Phil M. Donnelly has signed one of the key bills in the series to modernize Missouri's mental health program.

It sets up a system for voluntary commitment of mentally ill persons to state or private hospitals. Sponsors said it would go a long way to remove the stigma of "insanity" under the old system of commitment by court proceedings.

Also signed was a bill requiring cities to get court permission before annexing new territory. They must show their annexation plan is reasonable and that they can provide water, fire protection and other municipal services to the new area.

The governor said the measure produced a tremendous volume of letters and telegrams, both for and against. One of the protests was from his hometown, Lebanon.

But in his view it would merely give property owners a chance to present their case before annexation, instead of requiring them to test it in a court action after the annexation was completed.

Vetoed was a bill which would have allowed courts to give juries abstract statements of law as part of their instructions. The governor said he thought that would just confuse juries more.

The eruption of the volcano Vesuvius in Italy in 1931 is believed to have killed 18,000 people.

Twilling Brings a New First Team to A F

Top Six Are Younger Generals With Brilliant Hot and Cold War Records

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The U.S. Air Force has practically a whole new first team these days. Gen. Nathan Twilling brought it with him when he took over from Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg as Air Force Chief of Staff. It's a team of outstanding younger generals, all with brilliant World War II records, who have risen to even greater prominence since the end of the war.

Their ages range downwards from 53 to 47. They've come up as outstanding administrators, planners of commanders in the last seven years, and have had post-graduate training in the cold war, the Korean battle, and Air Force post-war problems. All but one is a pilot.

Here are Twilling's top six: Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Twilling's Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations, is 53 and has one of the most colorful careers to be found in the Pentagon.

A doughty in France in World War I, he returned to make his way through West Point and became an Army pilot, then made his mark as one of the Army's best aerial gunners and test pilots.

During World War II he helped set up the gigantic Air Force training program, served with Jimmy Doolittle in bomber operations in Europe, got into the scrap in the Pacific and came back to Washington for a key staff job. In the early days of the Korean fighting he went out there to take over direction of the Fifth Air Force.

Lt. Gen. Thomas D. White, 52, who will be Twilling's Vice Chief of Staff, is rated one of the smoothest operators in the Air Force today. He's lean, cold-eyed and completely efficient.

His experience includes many years with diplomatic missions in China, Russia, Italy, Greece and Brazil.

During World War II he had several assignments in intelligence work and saw combat in the South Pacific. He has also served as liaison officer with Congress—an important background in the current Air Force tussle with the Administration over budget cuts.

cent that as commander of the Fifth Air Force in Korea, he established himself as one of the outstanding authorities on tactical aviation, which ultimately led to his taking over and revitalizing the Tactical Air Command after the Korean fighting started.

Maj. Gen. Kenneth P. McNaughton, 50, the new Vice Commander of all Far East Air Forces, is a veteran Army Air Corps pilot whose special field is Before taking key assignments with the strategic bombers in the Pacific during World War II, he had been directing important phases of the training command back in the States. He is rated a command pilot, combat observer and aircraft observer.

Maj. Gen. William F. McKee, 47, is the only member of Twilling's new team who isn't a pilot himself. He becomes Vice Commander of the Air Materiel Command. Until World War II he was an Army artillery officer.

Joining the Blue Yonder Boys in 1942, he quickly established himself as an inspired planning officer and staff man. In 1946 he was commanding general of the headquarters command of the Air administration and training Force in Wiesbaden, Germany.

Most of his duty since then has been in important Pentagon jobs. Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, 47, new Deputy Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Air Force in Europe, is better known as "Mr. Airlift." He directed the famous Berlin airlift of 1948 which did much to cool off the Russians in their cold war tactics.

Following that he organized the famous airlift Maneuver for Operation Swarmer and then set up the airlift to Korea when that show opened. During World War II he ran the famous "hump" operation in China.

RETURNS TO HOSPITAL—Cpl. Charles Maggard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Maggard, 492 South Union, has returned to a hospital at Great Lakes after spending a 30-day leave with his parents. He spent 12 months in Korea with the First Marine Division. He was first wounded Feb. 19 by an enemy shell and on March 20 fragments from a mortar shell hit both legs and injured his left hand. He received two purple hearts and other citations.

Whoop-whoop: Fish Story That's Wired for Sound

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

WOODS HOLE, Mass. — Did you hear about the one that got away? Must have weighed twenty pounds, and had the nicest baritone voice.

Fish story? Nonsense. Scientists have long known that fish make noise and nowadays they're trying to find out how, why, and which fish make what noises. And they're succeeding.

A man from the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution took himself up to the lower Saguenay River, at the mouth of the St. Lawrence Gulf. This is a hangout for white whales. He got a boat, an underwater microphone and a recorder and listened.

And he came to the conclusion that white whales make a noise like a Bronx cheer. They also squeal and mew.

have no vocal chords. They reason that some rub their fins, others drum on their air bladders, and some grind their teeth. There are still some puzzlers, and scientists can't figure how they make noise. The most puzzling aspect of the noise they do. Nobody knows, but there are many theories. And it's important, because when the answer is known, there may be ways of sonically controlling the fish population—keeping them out of some areas, luring them to others.

One theory is that the noise has something to do with mating. Another is that it's a sound of warning. And there are some who say that fish make noise just for the halibut.

Miss Mary's 'Good Work'

At 90, Chipper Invalid Still Aids Thousands of Youngsters

MISS MARY'S HELPERS come from all walks of life. Here diplomat's daughter Senorita Vera Regina Santos Jacintho, wearing Brazilian festival costume, brings her a doll.

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The thing you remember most is her blue eyes. And the smile. The kind that's had lots of practice — pretty near 90 years of it. Then the wheel chair, the white hair and that soft, almost young girl voice.

Mary Virginia Merrick weighs perhaps 85 pounds. Partly paralyzed since teen age, a steel and leather jacket supports a back that refused to mend after a young girl's fall from a playhouse window. Since 1886 this chipper little invalid has baffled bankers, surprised social workers and spurred on friends to assist her in a program which has benefited tens of thousands of children across the United States.

Just recently a fancy garden party and bazaar at the Brazilian embassy brought Washington society and embassy-ties out to pay tribute to Mary Merrick's life-long project which she calls simply the Christ Child Society.

Today that organization includes a settlement house where youngsters box and play baseball and learn to cook and sew; a convalescent farm for children; a girls' camp and a shop which retails everything from furniture to clothes to raise funds.

The strings of the big operation are pulled from a chairside telephone. Starting at 9 a. m. Miss Merrick's busy day is liable to include checking the books, dictating correspondence, planning her monthly board meeting or seeing visitors on society business. It's been this way for 67 years.

Hard-headed financiers are a push-over for Mary Merrick. "Don't ever think you can fool her about half of one per cent interest on any particular bond.

A Christmas gift program for children began when Miss Merrick discovered an errand boy, her wealthy father had assigned to her was expecting nothing for Christmas because he was poor.

"Perhaps if you would write to the Christ Child..." she told him. "Who's He?" the boy inquired. "The Giver of Good Gifts," she explained.

The child brought back 18 letters from neighborhood pals. Today the society handles thousands of letters beginning "Dear Christ Child."

Little wonder that children love Miss Mary, or that one Archbishop intimated his belief that in years to come this amazing woman might join the ranks of sainthood. She had been honored with Notre Dame's Laureate Medal, the Papal Cross "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice," an outstanding citizen's award from the Cosmopolitan Club, an exclusive Washington men's group, and an honorary social science degree from Georgetown University.

Miss Mary would have, no doubt, felt she had more than her share of reward had she overheard one little fellow's remark at the society's farm.

There had been some discussion of carpentry work. When Miss Merrick arrived one day in her collapsible wheel chair the child shouted gleefully: "Here comes the big shot. Now we'll get what we need."

Tommy Wagner joined the club. Refreshments were served. On July 6 the members enjoyed a skating party at Liberty Park. Each member invited a guest.

In Elizabeth Barrett Browning style the young invalid put her pen to a translation from the French. It said: Her sister Mildred blithely whipped up a cook book. It got published.

An early venture, sewing layettes for the poor, gave Miss Merrick and her own sisters something to do while they chatted around her bedside. Today, a half century later, destitute young mothers still knock timidly on the door of the Christ Child Society for baby clothes.

Creed and color make no difference. Miss Merrick is a Catholic but members of her society and

Farm and City Housewives Meet Together To Discover Solutions for Price Problems

COLUMBUS, O. — Mrs. Ralph Richards, a farmer's wife from Ashland County, Ohio, apologized for being late to the meeting "I got the cows milked and the chickens fed on schedule this morning," she explained. "But then a couple of the sheep ran away and I had to catch them. That held me up."

Mrs. Clarence Griebing, another farm woman, said she was lucky to get to the meeting at all. "I'd be driving a tractor if my husband hadn't let me off wheat sowing to come here," she said.

Such statements as these produced a not uncalculated effect of awe on the assemblage of city housewives foregathered in Cleveland recently to hash over the subject of high food prices.

The meeting was one of scores held regularly in 39 Ohio counties under sponsorship of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee, with the cooperation of Federated Women's Clubs and sometimes local Chambers of Commerce.

The farm women are trying to explain to their city sisters that farmers aren't getting rich and that they work long hard hours.

A feature of the meetings is that in most cases the city women are taken right out to the farms to see what's going on.

At a typical meeting, a farm woman is paired off with each city woman for the day, and the hour a building construction worker gets $2.00 and retail workers $1.17.

"But," replies Mrs. Downs, "people in the city working for wages have to get more money — prices are up."

"Farmers like to live, too," Mrs. Smith argues.

Then one of the farm women hails out some figures provided her by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee's headquarters, in Columbus, and really gets down to cases.

The figures put much of the high cost of food on the truckers, processors, and retailers who handle it after it leaves the farmer.

The farmer, the figures show, gets only 2.4 cents for the wheat that goes into a 15-cent loaf of bread, 3.5 cents for the contents of a can of corn that sells for 25 cents; 2.2 cents for a bunch of onions that sells in a grocery store for 8 cents.

Farm Bureau literature says the farmer gets on the average 50 cents out of each dollar the housewife spends for food.

The farm women can even point to a recent example, in Cincinnati where city housewives refused to change dairies and times of milk delivery, although to have done so would have reduced their costs for milk by several cents by simplifying delivery procedure.

And they point to the case in Oberlin, O., where city wives refused to buy fresh local carrots at one-third of the cost of carrots imported clear from California and wrapped in a fancy package.

Mrs. Litta K. Roberson, head of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee, says this just isn't smart buying, and that city wives have only themselves to blame for high prices in such cases.

This program for farm-city understanding is only three years old, and already thousands of women are resolving some age-old differences by direct contact with each other, and by direct, on-the-spot investigation of the problems.

Biggest Mass Shots Against Polio Are Begun

ELMIRA, N. Y. — The biggest mass inoculation in the history of the fight against polio began today in two stricken upstate New York counties as the first of 35,000 reluctant small-fry howled their dismay.

Right where they sit down, the youngsters received shots of gamma globulin, the newest weapon in the battle against infantile paralysis.

The first of 23 emergency clinics to open their doors in the epidemic area of Chemung and Steuben Counties were jammed by the children and their parents. About 2,000 volunteers helped doctors, dentists and nurses in the schools and armories, where the clinics were set up.

But even as the mass inoculation got under way, the toll of polio victims mounted. Three new cases were reported in the stricken area yesterday, bringing the total to 57. There have been four deaths, including that of a 22-year-old Seneca Falls man.

The victim, Richard F. Blue, died today.

At some clinics, the line-up began as early as 7 a. m. In one school in Elmira, doctors hastened their preparations and opened the doors 15 minutes earlier than the scheduled start.

The medical crews were heartened by news from Montgomery, Ala., where inoculation of 31,000 children was termed a success. The U. S. Public Health Service said the Montgomery results so far apparently were "most promising."

With the food before them, Ohio farm and city women check over reasons for high food costs. Such meetings are held regularly in thirty Ohio counties in an effort to iron out differences between farmers and city dwellers on subject of high farm prices.

whole group of perhaps 50 will visit a dairy plant in the city, a dairy farm in the country, and then sit around and talk the whole thing over.

Some pretty basic things get talked about. City people want cheaper food and want to know why they can't get it. Farmers want good prices. Farm people want cheaper machinery. City people want higher wages. Business men in the city want good profits. Farm people want goods at lower costs. And so it goes.

In the women's own words, it goes like this:

Mrs. James Downs, Columbus housewife, says, "Farmers have never been better off. They never had it so good."

"But labor costs so much," says Mrs. Ada Smith, Union County farm wife. "We can buy butter cheaper than we can make it ourselves. So we buy it."

The farmer works long hours and the whole family works, too. The farmer gets an average of 60 cents an hour for his labor. A laborer in a manufacturing business gets an average of $1.46 an

Free School Held For the Week-end Home Carpenters

RIDGEFIELD PARK, New Jersey — Are you a weekend carpenter or a wood butcher?

Thousands of homeowners have carpentry jobs that need to be done. They have the time and the will to do them but don't know the tricks of the trade that make the difference between an economical success and a botch.

The manager of a lumber company here knew about that. And he knew, too, that statistics show the do-it-yourself market is the open door to an average above $75 a year from every household. So Leonard Roughgarden came up with the idea of a free school for weekend carpenters.

Two or three newspaper ads announced a series of seven weekly practical lectures on how to do your own carpentry work on attic conversions.

The response was terrific. The main hall of the Civic Center was crowded with 175 amateur builders, ranging from newlyweds to retired couples.

Lecturers comprised the top technical men from some of the biggest building supply manufacturers in the nation.

The first expert was Roger Bridgeman, designer of prefabricated houses.

Bridgeman, in carpenter's apron, worked with hammer and saw on a 10-foot model of an unfinished attic, explaining each step in putting up sidewalls and laying a floor.

Week by week top men in the field took the classes step by step through the attic job to the finished room.

Farm and Home Savings And Loan Shows Growth

The Farm and Home Savings and Loan Association, with home office at Nevada, reports a remarkable growth of more than $16,000,000 in assets in the 12-month period ending June 30. Its assets now total $87,398,671.07 with reserves of more than $7,000,000. The association ranks as the largest in the great Southwest.

Farm and Home is represented in Sedalia by J. L. Van Wagner. The association recently increased its dividend rate to 3% a year. Its accounts are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation of Washington, D. C., a government agency.

PETTIS HERDS ON SUDAN GRASS—These three dairy herds are all grazing on certified sudan grass which is the most drought resistant pasture available. The 5 1/2 acre field at the top is at Roy Pettis's and was treated with 100 pounds of anhydrous ammonia. The cattle (part of his 20 cow herd) are standing in a "swag" but most places in the field the grass was as tall as the cows backs.

Jack Yeater is standing in the left center part of the second picture and has 40 cows on 12 acres which was fertilized for improved permanent pasture last fall. The herd increased production by 15 gallon per day in 10 days time.

Pasture in the third picture, at Clay Merks, is short and he has now taken the cattle out so it can grow, but he says it has already paid for itself.

Women to Change Shape Again With New Fall Styles

By DOROTHY ROE AP Fashion Editors

NEW YORK. — The U. S. woman is due to change her shape again this fall, as new fashion silhouettes call for a string-bean midriff and snake hips.

Daytime clothes, as currently previewed, are skin-tight through the middle, ruler-slim through the skirt and curved and draped about the top.

The showings are by members of the New York Dress Institute and other fashion houses.

Most designers favor the slim sheath silhouette for daytime, softer, full skirts for after 5 and a choice between the draped sheath and the crinolined look for formal evening wear.

For those who have become accustomed to full skirts, there is, fortunately, a compromise. This is the skirt which appears slim in front but acquires walking width through back fullness, in what is called the Edwardian silhouette.

The lady with the midriff bulge is going to be out of luck this fall, unless she rushes for one of the new foundation garments designed to cope with this problem—or goes on a diet.

The new clothes are wonderfully becoming to girls with good figures, but are designed to conceal no bulges.

An era of elegance is in the cards for fall and winter. Full-length evening gowns are back with a bang, fabrics are luxurious and trimmings are brilliant. For example, one wholesale manufacturer shows an evening sheath completely embroidered in iridescent sequins, with coat to match, to retail at $3,000. That gives you a rough idea.

Dinner and cocktail suits are trimmed with mink, sable and ermine. Wool daytime dresses often are beaded or sparkled with a discreet touch of metallic embroidery, or a Kohinoor-size fake jewel peeking out of a pocket slit. In coats the narrow, tubular look is in thing. If it flares toward the bottom, it's called the funnel silhouette. Fur is used lavishly in linings, wide cape collars or big muff cuffs, and fabrics range from sleek polished woolsens such as aybelene or broadcloth to lush cashmere. The shaggy-dog fabrics of the last few seasons are few and far between. But this year most stores have a carload of fall coats. The dolman and the batwing sleeve are required equipment for the new silhouette cut in one with the body of the coat, the armholes deep and low, extending in some cases to the hipline.

Condensed Statement of Condition of The SEDALIA BANK and TRUST COMPANY

At the Close of Business June 30, 1953

A complete explanation of our statement is outlined below to make the terms and figures easily understood.

TO PAY OUR DEPOSITORS AS OF JUNE 30, 1953 $5,133,296.15

Our customers have left their money in our care—this is our primary consideration and our assets are so arranged that we are able at all times to meet the obligations. In addition to maintaining a liquid asset position, each depositor is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

TO PAY OUR DEPOSITORS WE OWN THE FOLLOWING

CASH $1,911,855.39

This is the cash reserve. It represents cash in our vaults, with the Federal Reserve Bank and with approved banks in New York—Chicago—St. Louis and Kansas City.

BONDS

United States, Municipal, other Highest Grade Bonds $1,712,879.39

Stock in Federal Reserve Bank $ 7,500.00

This is known as the secondary reserve, because all of the bonds are quickly salable. The grand total is worth more on the market than their carrying value.

The bonds are very liquid, having short maturity dates. We have them set up so that they are coming due at regular specified dates throughout the year.

LOANS $1,794,123.74

The money loaned has been used by our customers for innumerable purposes, including agriculture, business, dairying, livestock, purchasing of goods, payment of bills, purchase of automobiles, etc. The bulk of the loans are secured by collateral of greater value than the amount loaned. The commercial loans are for comparatively short periods. Real Estate loans are secured by 1st Trust Deeds on improved properties, and these loans are payable on a monthly basis.

Our ample cash resources are available to supply legitimate and necessary loan requirements of our customers.

BANK PREMISES $ 87,678.98

To have adequate banking facilities for our continuously growing business, it was necessary to build a new bank home in 1948, and the amount quoted above is the value which these premises represent today on our books after planned payments from our earnings.

FURNITURE AND FIXTURES $ 23,519.43

Banking fixtures include safe deposit boxes, vault, bookkeeping machines, night depository, etc., of a value far in excess of the figure quoted here.

OVERDRAFTS $ 3,121.64

Occasionally a good customer is out of the City or becomes confused in his accounting and a check comes in which is paid and overdraws his account. These are only temporary items for from one to three days.

OTHER ASSETS $ 4,178.07

This represents accrued interest on Government Bonds and miscellaneous assets.

GRAND TOTAL OF WHAT WE OWN $5,541,735.00

Deducting what we owe $5,133,296.15 from what we own $5,541,735.00

THERE REMAINS $ 378,931.79

This is our Capital Stock of $150,000.00; our Surplus Fund of $100,000.00; Undivided Profits of $114,281.56; Reserves for contingencies and retirement account for preferred capital of $14,650.23. For the most part this represents the stockholders investment that stands as a protection and further security for the funds of our depositors.

Optimistic GOP Machine Sees Sweep In the 1954 Elections

By Peter Edson
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Republican National Committee headquarters in Washington has now moved into a new air-conditioned office space, just a couple of blocks from the White House.

The entire headquarters staff is now all together on one floor, one flight up. There's an auto ramp in the building core which permits a few of the hot shots to park their cars only a few steps through a fire door and down the hall from their desks.

Incidentally, a part of the new contracting International Information Administration of the State Department was moved out of this space to make room for the Republican National Committee.

Formerly the GOP organization in Washington was scattered in a hotel and a couple of other buildings. One of the buildings was so narrow that people practically had to sit on each other's laps.

Now, under the new national chairman, Leonard Hall of New York, a lot of files have been put in storage, the staff has been cut by some 50 people to a little over 100, the rent has been cut, the committee is $100,000 in the black and the goose hangs high in jovial, fat-man optimism.

The election in 1954 is going to be a breeze — if you believe what Republican spokesmen say about it now.

Taxes are going to be reduced next year and there will be peace in Korea this year. "Those are the two things said to count most with the voters."

No Serious Obstacles Are Foreseen

The fact that taxes are not being reduced this year is considered of minor importance. Individual income tax rates will decline automatically Jan. 1. It wouldn't do to allow the excess-profits tax to expire before individual taxes are cut. So the EPT, as it's now called for short, will be continued till the end of the year, in fairness to the little taxpayers.

Then, with the casualty lists from Korea ended, everything will be rosy — from the Republican point of view.

The drop in farm prices is not considered a serious obstacle. This is of course the eastern thinking. It may represent a serious blind spot for Republican strategists, but that's the way they talk now.

Nor is the labor vote situation taken too seriously. The unions are getting their wage increases in free negotiations, without government interference and without strikes. Agitation for Taft-Hartley law reform is regarded as principally the work of union officials and organizers. It is not considered representative of rank-and-file opinion.

Like everything and everything is like. Ike is said to have more popularity today than FDR had in 1933, at the beginning of his term. The Democrats gained 14 seats in Congress in the 1934 election. The Republicans hope to beat that in 1954.

If they do, it will be the second time in U. S. history that a party in power has increased its congressional majority in mid-term elections. Customarily, the party in power loses seats in a mid-term election.

The Republicans won 221 of 435 congressional districts in 1952. But they carried 280. The hope is to build up the Republican majority in the next Congress to something like that.

Any Kind Of A Republican Will Do

No particular effort is now planned to get Republican congressional candidates pledged to support President Eisenhower's program. That apparently is not considered important, since there have been no open splits between the President and Congress thus far. Any kind of Republican will apparently do, just so he's labeled Republican.

The fight, however, will be in some 85 districts where the election last year was close. They include 40 districts in 22 states where the Republicans won with less than 55 per cent of the vote and 45 districts which the Democrats won by the same slim margin.

The Republican patronage business is gradually being straightened out. Instead of being concentrated in the White House office of the assistant to the President, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, patronage is now being handled by National Committee headquarters. It is being linked to marginal states and districts.

The businessman cabinet is now said to have been fully indoctrinated on the importance of patronage. The plan now is to have government officials call up and say, "We need half a dozen attorneys." Or personnel men, engineers or whatever are needed.

National headquarters then picks the states from which the men should come and the state political leaders are asked to recommend candidates. But the system, still isn't perfect, for in a number of states the two senators or the governor and state chairman are in rival, local political camps.

Ecuadorian Revolt Clouds

By Drew Pearson

Unrest in Ecuador has shown a marked upturn among the laboring class and other low-paid groups, following a presidential decree granting salary increases to all workers except those earning 500 sucres ($28.50) per month or less.

This curious discrimination thus leaves nearly half the country's employed citizens with unchanged wages — at a time when living costs are mounting at an average rate of 4 per cent monthly.

A United Nations survey, released last year, gave $40 as the mean annual income per capita for Ecuadorians. This is the lowest in the western hemisphere. President Velasco Ibarra's new decree, by passing over some 600,000 farm and factory workers at the bottom of the pay scale, will have little or no effect on that figure.

Meanwhile, conflict among discordant elements within the administration has brought on a rash of political rumors throughout the republic. These have made the government so jittery that mounted patrols of national police are now everywhere in evidence after dark, armed with submachine guns.

There is constant talk of a revolutionary conspiracy, headed by Eduardo Salazar Gomez, national chairman of the Liberal Party and briefly a candidate in last year's presidential campaign. (He dropped out two months before the election.)

Competent observers have agreed that these reports have no basis in fact. Rather, they reflect the state of uncertainty and discontent prevailing today in the little South American republic which, during U. S.-educated Galo Plaza's term as chief executive, enjoyed the only four years of stable, democratic government in its otherwise turbulent history.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A windstorm, accompanied by heavy rainfall, visited Pettu County Tuesday night uprooting trees and crippling wire service. Fully 350 phones in local service were cut off and street car service was discontinued. Street lights were also off.

1928
L. Ginsberg, 400 South Quincy, returned from Fort Scott, Kan., to which place he accompanied his wife and son, Herman and Lewis, and Mrs. Ginsberg's mother, Mrs. A. Alcott and daughter, Hannah, St. Louis, to visit relatives.

1928
Kroenke's band, was playing during the three days of the Sa-had cabbaged onto it. He explains that he traded the little gal on the women's desk out of it because she couldn't remember that he had a figure 1 on it and she always came out with 1949 instead of 1949.

So he had it cleaned and polished and installed in that big desk of his with a safe and secure place to put a typewriter away—the kind of a desk you and I'd just dream about. To answer your question—he put a new ribbon on it and he writes about dollars and cents on it, instead of about farm crops and football like you and Grammie used to do.

And, he says, "you can tell Hal Boyle he can't have it back. He owes as a storage bill on it that neither he nor the AP would ever be able to pay."

So, old pal, there you have it. The old mill is doing better than the likes of you and me—and it looks like it's gone forever.

But the best of luck to you anyway.

Jake Hamel.

Massacre Mountains

SUDDENLY Pete saw two men appear at the corner room of the long right angled column of rooms. They weren't Indians and they were surely on guard duty. The store was disconnected from the rows of rooms, and there were cabins behind that. The chances were they were walking backward and forward among those buildings.

In order to see better Pete moved a little way out from the corner room, but after a few minutes the men disappeared. He was about to start back to the row of rooms when he heard a sudden, spine-chilling gasp just behind him, followed by a thud. He whirled in time to see an Indian fall so close that his out-thrust fingers grazed Pete's legs. Six feet away stood Walter, holding a blood-stained knife.

There was no occasion for words. Pete understood that the dead Indian had seen his approach, but had bided his time for Pete to move away from the buildings before making his assault. The knife in his hand must have been upraised when Walter, coming up behind him, had struck. Walter had saved Pete's life.

Pete drew a long, shuddering breath, and gripped the Indian boy's hand. Now thanks to Walter the only man who could see his approach to Zad's quarters was dead. Unhesitatingly he walked straight to the door of Zad's room. Walter was right behind him.

He reached back and touched the ooy's arm reassuringly then raised the latch of the door and gave it a push. It flew open and he heard Zad's heavy startled voice demand "Who's that?"

Pete said, "Don't move, Barnes or you're a dead man."

There was silence as Pete moved lightly into the darkened room and took a swift, noiseless step to the left. He was aware that Walter had followed him in almost like his shadow, but had stepped to the right on moss-stained feet. He could hear Zad breathing hard, trying to make up his mind. Pete stepped forward, revolver ready. Then suddenly, a wash bowl to the right of the door crashed to the floor, knocked by Walter, and Zad's gun thundered.

PETE fired at the flash of the gun, and heard the impact of lead striking soft, human flesh. He fired twice more, then whirled toward the door, calling out "Come on Walter," although he feared the Indian boy had been shot. Walter, however, was right behind him. Pete had no time to see whether his enemy was dead or not. He had done the best he could, but in the dark it was hard to tell where a bullet might go.

He heard yells of alarm before Walter got through the door, and as they broke into a run a man appeared at the corner of the court and opened fire. In a moment other men appeared from various doorways, and before they reached the end of the court bullets were buzzing about their ears.

Between the shots Pete heard an Indian raise a blood-curdling war-whoop, and it was answered by knowing, or guessing that the wild yells from every side which seemed to come from both white and Indian throats and the shoot-miscuous as he had thought. He suddenly increased in volume, did not know that when he was trying to get at Zad Barnes last room and plunged toward the lum. Nate Wilkinson, with more than 30 of his men had come on to that their chances were small, but Pangenet in two wagons, and the rest of the way on foot, and worked their way in to surround the traitor post.

The sudden burst of gunfire answered, "I'm all right," the boy answered, "I knew where that wash-stand was. I made a long reach. He fired at the sound." "Good boy!" They reached Santos River, but between the alarm when an Indian sentinel had seen Wilkinson's men charging in.

Sparks With a Human Closeup from Arabia

American Man of Mercy in Ancient Jerusalem

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent

ARAB SECTION, Jerusalem — In the crowded bazaar of Jerusalem's old walled city, next to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Christendom's most sacred shrine, I met an American man of charity looking for children who had lost an eye.

His rainbow tie, cigar, cane, bifocals and beret labeled him "tourist." But as smiling Arabs called "Marhaba" — greetings — and as he with trained fingers drew back the eyelids of passing urchins, I knew that here was more than a mere traveler to the holy places of the Promised Land.

We went together by Damascus Gate to the terrace of Cafe Zatar ("A leaf of time") and as he fondly smoked a water pipe with friends, I learned his story.

He is Dr. Edwin Moll, Near East director of Lutheran World Fed-ing and medicines allotted to 800,000 Christian and Moslem Palestinians evicted from Israel during Arab-Jewish battles and refused re-entry.

The only American living in the Old City, he has Spartan rooms in Church Santa Maria Latina, gracefully arched by the Crusaders. When the refugee flood overflows, the pulpit becomes a pantry, the pews beds.

The interior is dense with bales of used American garments gathered by the Lutherans. They include tuxedos and frilly evening dresses, later reworked for unfashionable wear in refugee camps where babies sleep tight on their bellies to ease hunger pains.

The federation tops all private relief for displaced Arabs. Besides the hospital and refugee stores, Dr. Moll administers five clinics, two orphanages, schools and 22 centers where small fry must eration, perhaps the most beloved American in these feverish parts of Arabia where today we beg allies.

Dr. Moll makes kindly use even of a morning stroll, seeking children with one eye deformed all white by the common trachoma and conjunctivitis. Physicians in Augusta Victoria Hospital, which he supervises on the Mount of Olives, remove useless orbs and replace them with fine plastic eyes concealing the afflictions and making shy youngsters smile again.

Dr. Moll's main mission is to supplement skimpy UN food, cloth-wall to prove how rotten the fabric.

A widower, Dr. Moll first came to Jerusalem as an Army officer in 1917, then held pastorates in Wisconsin, California and Chicago before settling permanently in the Old City seven years ago.

Although bombs crushed the roof and splashed stained glass windows during the 1948 violence, Dr.

Moll kept working, with a sandbag for a pillow. Even today lead flies as the Old City wall divides the armed and ever angry Arab and Jewish sections.

As I left Dr. Moll he walked past the Wailing Wall and Solomon's Temple followed by barefoot, skipping kids. He stopped to examine several he did not know, strangers, looking for children who had lost an eye.

Hal Boyle's Column—

Typewriters Cause Reporter Much Woe In War or Peace

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The ordinary newspaperman rarely looks for, expects, or needs public sympathy.

But at this moment I need a shoulder to cry on—and, if you've got two, I'll weep on both of them.

I tell you what breaks more newspapermen's hearts than people who won't talk—and that is typewriters that won't work. In war or peace it is typewriters. I hate typewriters. I don't suppose anybody in the whole world hates typewriters more than I do—or for more reasons.

The public thinks all a newspaperman has to do is to learn what has happened, and then tell it. That is really all he does have to do. But to get the news back home where they can print it he has to use a typewriter or a telephone or a cable.

If any war reporter or foreign correspondent told the full story of the heartbreaks that had come to him through his faith in the telephone, cable, or wireless—well, I don't think any honest newspaper reader or radio listener could stand the strain on his sympathy. He would have to break down and weep out of general good will. After all, in wartime they don't assign chaplains to the newspaper corps—but they probably will the next time.

There was the period in Normandy in 1944 when news sent by the usual means just seemed to make an echo and get nowhere. So in desperation some U. S. Signal Corps pigeons, quickly tested for carrying power rather than loyalty, were freighted with news bulletins and picture negatives and thrown in the general direction of London and New York.

You know where the ringleader pigeons showed up? In Berlin. The German newspapers had a field day printing the Allied news bulletins and photographs.

That must be why the official feed ration of army messenger pigeons recently was listed as "secret." Probably in 1944 some spy was slipping sauerkraut to them on the sly and naturally when they were turned loose they winged toward Germany, the base of supply.

Presumably the secret ration today is grits. A U. S. Army pigeon, loosed anywhere in the world, will head first for Richmond, Va., and if unfavorable winds sweep him off his course, he will veer toward Charleston, S. C., grounding himself if necessary.

Now, never mind that pigeon and his refueling problem, which so far as I know is still officially a featured mystery, let's get back to typewriters.

The first and only fair typewriter I ever met was one I used in 1934 in the Columbia, Mo., Tribune, put there by the Associated Press. The ribbon had never been changed since the early part of the century, but it never broke.

to get up early when you felt strong, and kick at the keys with both feet. It had an advantage for the management in that at the end of the day none of the series of reporters who inherited it ever had the muscle-power to use it to ask for a raise.

I have heard since that Jake Hamel, the managing editor, leased it during the last war, powered it with an airplane motor and rented it as a tractor. But I'll bet it is now back at work again, chronicling the exploits of the University of Missouri athletic teams—with the same old ribbon.

There never was a typewriter like that old covered wagon. You couldn't break it with a sledgehammer.

But never since then have I had a typewriter that you could even start to fill out an expense account upon but what it would collapse.

One brand new one I drowned trying to land in French Morocco. I borrowed another from the army. I nursed, begged, pleaded, pampers that typewriter until I got to Shanghai in 1945 and gave it to a rickshaw man for a two-block ride—and I hope it is happy. He couldn't be if he kept it.

Along the way I bought or relinquished by moonlight at least a half dozen other typewriters. You think a typewriter is a machine? It is a wife, a child, a cousin—any relative with 12 diseases that cannot help you when you need him but demands your loyalty. The keys stick. It does move, but it doubles and won't print. And always, always, when you have an important story. And meanwhile you have forgotten how to write by hand.

I know how to end the war in Korea—or with anyone else. Let me go there with 1,000 typewriters, and try to use them. As they fall apart, throw them to the enemy.

Then attack. No enemy power in the world could get its paws out of 1,000 matted-up typewriters in time to defend itself.

Mr. Hal Boyle

The Associated Press

New York, N. Y.

Dear Hal:

About that old typewriter that you — and Charlie Cummish and Huei Warren and a lot of other young guys—used to punish. It's gone high hat. It's moved into a deal which you and I probably will never achieve—the Business Office. Where they take in money and pay it out, you know.

We wear piece cake over the wire today it stirred my curiosity. I started looking for the old mill. I could remember it used to hang on the side of the old AP desk, and finally fell off. I could remember we had a strange little gal on the women's desk who liked those funny letters on it—it wrote all caps—and who used it awhile. But today it wasn't anywhere in sight.

Of course not. The business manager—your remember—M. D. Jen-

Tiny Gal Teaches How to Fly the Whirly-Birds

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Ever think in the middle of a traffic jam how much simpler life would be if you had invested in a helicopter instead of a car?

Perfect person to burst this theory is a pin-sized pilot with big brown eyes named Marilyn Himes Riviere.

According to Civil Aeronautics Administration records, the pretty blonde daughter of former Rep. Joseph Hendrix Himes of Ohio is the only girl in the United States to hold a helicopter instructor's rating.

"A helicopter is more dangerous than an ordinary plane," she says, "and it's a lot more expensive, too, but it's a lot more fun."

This from a former debutante who learns plane motors apart and puts them back together. She taught Air Force pilots to fly during the last war, and has come through 29 forced landings in regular planes. Currently she has over 100 helicopter hours to her credit.

Why aren't women so hep on helicopters? Marilyn says:

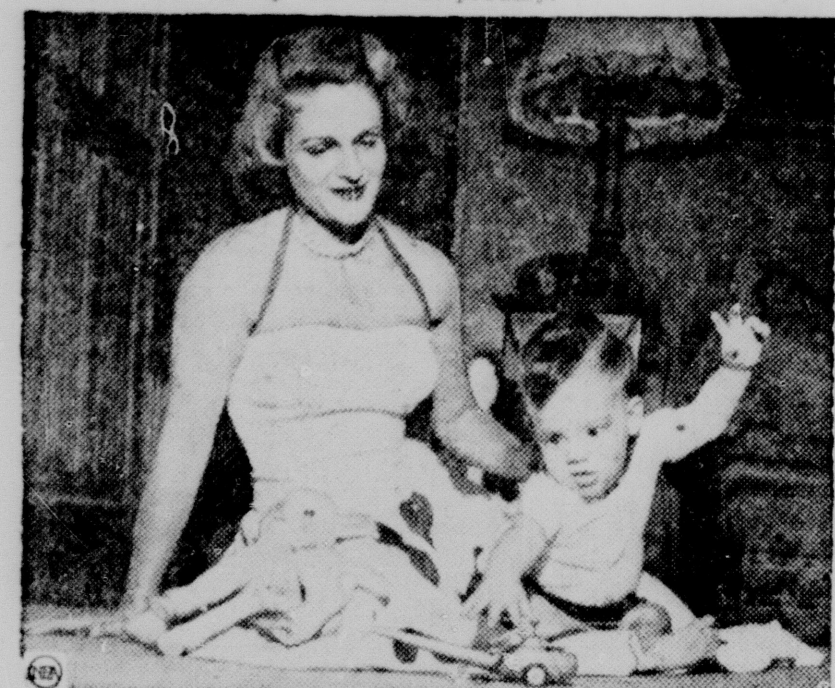

"Handling one is exhausting for a man. Shoving each of the two sticks around is equivalent to moving 15 to 17 pounds of weight and you can't stop your hands and feet to relax, even a few minutes, as in an ordinary plane. After 20 minutes of flying inspectors have had to lie down and rest."

Landing is tricky. Pretend the field is a crate of fresh eggs and that's the way you set a helicopter down.

When forced to ditch over water, the helicopter manual blithely instructs you to remain seated until the rotor blades on top of the plane have submerged.

"Few helicopter pilots bother with parachutes," she reveals. "If you bailed out you would probably be caught in the rotor blades."

In an airplane a pilot learns from mistakes. "But one mistake in a helicopter," Marilyn admits, "is more than likely the end of it."

WHIRLY-BIRD MOTHER and son Scott, 11 months, do some home flying with a toy helicopter. That's as close to Marilyn Riviere and her pilot husband want Scott to come to flying.

READY TO TAKE OFF, 'copter instructor Marilyn Riviere sits in the cockpit with her poodle, Sinner, a constant companion in the air who used to hitch rides when she was learning.

the helicopter."

"And, probably, the pilot's last mistake."

What gave 4-foot, 11-inch Marilyn a hankering to prove she could handle a 'copter? It was something instructor Albert Luke at Lewis College of Science and Technology in Chicago said to her when he couldn't talk her out of trying.

"All right," he smiled, "I'll take your money. But you'll never learn."

Marilynn had to have special foot extensions. Today she has foot extensions so she could reach the controls. Today she has a standing offer to go back to this college and teach men how to fly helicopters.

However, there's the little matter of a jet pilot just back from Korea. He's Capt. Joseph D. Riviere, her husband.

If Marilyn wasn't doing something she feels is a lot more important than flying—keeping house for an 11-month-old son and her pilot husband—she would have no trouble cashing in on her helicopter training.

Commercial jobs, she explains bring as much as $500 an hour.

However, there are a few discouraging financial facts in the helicopter picture. The initial purchase price is $50,000. Then comes a mechanic at $400 a month, plus the $20 to $25 operation cost per running hour.

Currently you can't buy a helicopter, Marilyn says. They're being produced mostly for military use, especially for rescue work behind enemy lines.

Around Washington Marilyn's got a reputation for rescue work of a different kind.

As one of the guiding lights of the Animal Rescue League, she's chased after lost dogs for years. A French poodle named Sinner is a constant companion in any undertaking as well as a devoted co-pilot. Back in flight school days his trick was to hitch a helicopter lift with anybody going up.

"He probably has more helicopter hours than any other dog in the world," his mistress claims proudly.

He was valedictorian of his class this spring and will enter Harvard as a pre-medical student. (Photo by Lehmer)

Strip Mines Become Beauty, Fishing Spots

LINTON, Ind., — — Low wooded hills and clear little lakes dimpled by feeding game fish are replacing some of America's most desolate landscapes—the murky pools and barren mounds of shale left by coal strip-mining operations.

This news stems from organized reclamation work now being done by the strip mine companies of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and West Virginia. Some individual companies are restoring vegetation on the churned up shallow coal lands—or "spoil banks" as the miners call them—in Kansas and Missouri.

The Indiana Coal Producers Association contends that the idea of doing something with the ugly heaps of shale was born in this state. An experimental planting of peach, apple and pear trees was made in 1918 on spoil banks near Patrickburg. The pear trees are still there.

Indiana strip mine companies joined in an organized reclamation program in 1927. They have restored vegetation to 45,000 acres of land. Only 5,800 acres were suitable for pasture. About 5,000 acres were turned over to recreational use and 34,000 acres have been reforested with 31 million young trees.

Some of the early tree plantings are yielding pulpwood, posts, poles and other forest products. Thousands of lakes were left by the strip mining. One incidental result of the reforestation is the creation of water conditions that produce whopper bluegills, bass and other game fish.

Residents of the United States own 52 per cent of the investments in Canada's rapidly growing oil industry, latest available figures show.

J. J. Sullivan Takes Bride At Kansas City

Miss Mary Catherine Byrne, daughter of Mr. Barney Byrne of Kansas City, became the bride of Mr. James Joseph Sullivan, formerly of Sedalia now of Kansas City, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sullivan, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, July 4, at Guardian Angel Church in Kansas City. The Rev. Thomas Whalen performed the ceremony before a background of baskets of gladioli and lighted white tapers.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a blue lace frock with rhinestone trim. Her close fitting white lace hat was embroidered with rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Sullivan, wore a pink nylon dress with headpiece of pink sweetheart roses. She carried a nosegay bouquet of pink roses and blue daisies.

Mr. Edward Ritter served Mr. Sullivan as best man. Mr. John L. Sullivan Jr. and Mrs. Robert Burkett were ushers.

Mr. Joseph Enna, accompanied by Mrs. Enna sang "On This Day, On Beautiful Mother." "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

After a month's honeymoon thru the northwest, Canada and California, they will be at home in Kansas City.

Mrs. Sullivan is a graduate of Redemptorist High School and for the past several years has been employed in the Reconstruction Finance office in Kansas City.

Don't hesitate to speak up on your wedding gift subject. When eager-to-please gift-givers beg you to tell them what you want for a wedding present, don't evade the issue with a careless "Oh, just anything." How much better to say frankly that your china or crystal are still incomplete or that you need an electric toaster or a card table (if you do), than to be forced to exchange unwelcome for them later. Give out ideas on your color schemes and hints on things that you'd adore.

There are bound to be some "white elephants" and your friends dread that, so give them some helpful hints on the subject. The same can apply to your plans for flowers. . . . know exactly what you want and Pfeiffer's can follow your wishes to the last minute detail. Or, you may leave it to them to plan the complete decorations, even to the bride's bouquet. They've been doing this for years and really have the "know-how."

Keep Cool, But Avoid Sunburn And Poison Ivy

You say those words — "Have a good vacation" — and hear them constantly these days as the annual vacation trek begins. You've planned to have a wonderful time. But you do know that there are hazards? It's well to plan for them, too. You know that a vacation can be ruined by an emergency you aren't prepared for.

You will remember to take along a first aid kit, plenty of sunburn and poison ivy lotion. But there's another piece of equipment that is vitally important and that is your own attitude in an emergency.

Accidents will happen, and sometimes they happen when medical help isn't close at hand. One of the greatest dangers in any type of accident is shock. Scientifically speaking, shock is the result of a relative lack of blood in the body. It may be caused by bleeding, internally or externally, or by loss of water and salt, for example from sweating in heat exhaustion, or from excessive vomiting or diarrhea. It may also be caused by expansion of the blood vessels brought on by acute anxiety, contact with high voltage wires, or by severe pain. It often results in too little blood reaching the brain, producing drowsiness and unconsciousness. If not overcome promptly, death can occur.

Only a doctor, of course, can give blood or plasma transfusions or administer drugs. But the presence of a person who keeps his head at the scene of an accident may be almost equally important in saving a life. Counteracting anxiety by reassurance, assuming a calm and cheerful manner, and diverting the patient's attention are important aspects of treating shock.

In addition, a calm person will remember to give liquid if the case is one of loss of body fluid; to lower the patient's head if there is lack of blood in the brain. You may not be sure of your ability to apply a tourniquet for bleeding, but remember that a little pressure at the right place may stop bleeding. You can keep a cool head and help the patient merely by the way you behave in the emergency. He may owe you his life.

'Three Little Pigs' Stage Play At Fox Monday Afternoon

"I'll huff and I'll puff and I'll blow your house in!" — "The Three Little Pigs," a musical stage show coming to the Fox Theatre tomorrow afternoon for one performance only, at 2:30 p.m.

Penthouse productions of New York City will present "The Three Little Pigs" with an all-adult professional New York cast featuring real dwarfs in person, for the smaller small fry of Sedalia and their parents.

One of the favorite fairy tales is brought to life on stage and in person. As the curtain opens, we find Mother Pig preparing her three children, Porky, Piggy and Wiggly for their journey into the world to make their fortunes. After they have all been washed, dressed, and have eaten, she bids them all "good-bye" with a tear in her eye and a final warning to watch out for the big bad wolf.

The first little pig, "Porky," makes himself a house of straw and when the big bad wolf finds Porky's house, he blows it in with one huff-and-a-puff. Porky gets away, however, and runs to the home of Piggy, which has been made with stone sticks. This is a little better house than Porky's, but still not strong enough to stand up under the wolf's huffs and puffs, so when the wolf finds Piggy's house, the little pigs suggest that they play games until they can escape.

They succeed in outwitting him and run to the house of Wiggly, who has made himself a strong brick home. The big bad wolf decides to fool the pigs and disguises himself as a little girl. Going through the woods to the home of Wiggly, he meets a fairy who doesn't believe that he is a little girl and when she finds out he is the big bad wolf, she uses her magic and turns him into a rooster.

All the rooster wants to do is to dance and sing and he won't play with any of the other animals that come along so she has to turn him back into the wolf. He then goes along to the home of Wiggly.

With all of his huffing and puffing, the big bad wolf can't even make the house of brick wiggle.

so he decides to climb down the chimney. The little pigs see what he intends to do and put a big kettle of boiling water in the fireplace. When the wolf falls down the chimney, he drops into the kettle and that is the end of the big bad wolf and the three little pigs live happily ever after.

This special stage attraction will replace the regular Monday screen matinee.

Sun Tans Are Valuable, But They Won't Prevent Disease

The elderly lady watching the scantily clad sun worshippers on the beach sighed and said, "Well, at least they won't get TB."

It would be nice, if true, if tuberculosis could be prevented by giving everyone a suntan. Unfortunately, it's not true.

Not so long ago the sun had reached the point where many people believed that almost all the ills known to man could be prevented or cured by a good dose of sun. The ancient sunworshippers lay on their faces to pay homage to their god; modern devotees lie on their backs with every possible inch of epidermis exposed to the beneficent rays.

There is no doubt that fresh air and a reasonable amount of Vitamin D made by the body under the influence of the sun's rays are valuable in maintaining general good health. But there is plenty of doubt that a burned skin can prevent or cure any infectious diseases.

Tuberculosis is caused by an invasion of germs, tubercle bacilli, which enter the body through the nose or mouth. The germs come from someone who has the disease in active form. If the germs enter in sufficient quantity and body resistance is low, the disease will develop.

A summer vacation of regular exercise, good food, and fresh air will help build up the body's resistance to TB. But if you live an indoor, sedentary life for 50 weeks of the year, you may find that two weeks of concentrated play and sunshine leave you with nothing but exhaustion and a peeling skin.

To get the most benefit from a summer vacation, it should be approached with caution. Both sun and exercise must be taken in small doses and increased gradually. And when it's time to go back to work, keep that "vacation glow."

A regular regime of healthy living and an annual physical check-up with a chest X-ray are the best means of protecting yourself against tuberculosis.

Magistrate Settles Feud With County Court on Furniture

NORTH KANSAS CITY—The orange-crate magistrate has settled his three-year feud with the Clay County court.

It began over the payment of bills for office equipment in the court of Magistrate D. C. Campbell.

Campbell ordered the furniture three years ago. But the court refused to pay the bill of $217 on grounds the magistrate had not complied with the court on the purchase.

As a result the furniture was repossessed last Monday by a Kansas City furniture company.

Campbell hurriedly gathered some orange crates over which to conduct his judicial business.

But yesterday he paid a visit before the county court, to make a formal request for the furniture as well as payment of a carpenter bill of $463 for the construction of a platform in the courtroom. The court agreed to restore the furniture and pay the carpenter bill.

"I swallowed my pride a little bit," explained the magistrate.

Billboards Now Live: Skelton Gets In Act

HOLLYWOOD—A "living billboard" with girls in bathing suits diving into a 15-foot circular swimming pool, has made its appearance on Sunset Blvd.

The backdrop is a cut-out shaped like a Las Vegas hotel. Red Skelton happened by at the opening yesterday and dived in, fully clothed, pulling a couple of the girls in with him. There's a connection, of course. He starts a night-club appearance at the hotel next week.

Some diseases such as diabetes may cause poor sight.

Will Sell Dirt Off HST Farm At Jamboree

KANSAS CITY — Dirt from the Harry S. Truman farm will be used for bartering purposes at the National Boy Scout Jamboree starting at Santa Ana, Calif., next week.

It was Curry's idea. So last night Kenneth Long, a Jamboree leader, went out to the farm of the former president and brought in several bushels of earth from the former president's farm near Grandview.

H. Roe Bartle, chief executive of the Kansas City area council of the Scouts, said the earth would be placed in miniature milk bottles, bearing the label: "This soil is from the boyhood farm of former President Harry S. Truman, and the site of the Harry S. Truman Library."

The earth will be placed in 50,000 of the bottles, enough to supply one sample for every scout at the gathering.

In return for the earth, Curry gave the former President two Scout shoulder patches.

After the ceremony at the Truman office, Long commented:

"This is probably some of the dirt you played in as a boy."

"Yes," said Truman, with a smile, "and I probably got a spanking for it too."

Nearly 600 Missouri Boy Scouts will attend the California Jamboree. The various council in the states sending representatives and their number are:

Southeast Missouri, Cape Girardeau, 36; Mo-Kan, Joplin, 38; Ozarks Empire, Springfield, 86; Pony Express, St. Joseph, 42; Lake of the Ozarks, Jefferson City, 26; Great Rivers, Columbia, 33; Kansas City, 117; and St. Louis, 199.

Nominating Committee Named for Symphony

At a called meeting of the board of governors and directors of the Sedalia Symphony Society, Thursday afternoon, a nominating committee for the election of officers was appointed.

It was decided to meet July 20, at the Chamber of Commerce offices, for the election.

Those on the nomination committee are: Carl Schrader, Mrs. Harold G. Yunker, Charles Hanna, Mrs. Duane Ewing, Chester Wolfe, C. W. Mathieson, president of the board, and Harold Seaburg.

SEDALIA SCOUTS LEAVE FOR JAMBOREE—This was the scene at the Missouri Pacific depot here Friday afternoon as two Sedalia Boy Scouts and their leader, with Scouts from Marshall, Windsor and Slater, boarded the train for the trip to the third national Jamboree in California. Second from top on the steps is Charles Hofheins, Sedalia, scoutmaster of the troop from the Lake of the Ozarks Council at the Jamboree, and directly in front of him are his son, Don, and Larry Owens, members of the troop of the First Baptist Church here. Dr. and Mrs. Walter Going to Switzerland: Will Tour Other Lands

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Walter, 1000 West Seventh, have a European trip ahead of them that will take them to many of the principal cities of the continent.

Dr. Walter is to attend the International Congress on Rheumatic Diseases at Geneva, Switzerland, to be held Aug. 24-28, with a group of American physicians.

The Sedalians will leave here Sunday, July 26, and will be away until early in September. They will sail from New York aboard the Queen Mary and places to be visited include London, England; Nice, France; Monte Carlo, Rome, Naples and then on to Geneva for the general meeting.

The physicians to make the ocean voyage will attend special hospital clinics in London, Rome and Paris when all phases of rheumatic ailments will be discussed by medical experts who have made careful study of symptoms leading to such afflictions. They will consider fully cause and treatment that might lead to permanent cure.

The medical group will return on the same ship on which they will sail.
